Democrats Attack Willkie Background

'Glad It's All Over'

Exhausted but very happy are the Wendell Willkies of New York and Indiana following Willkie's selection as the Republican presidential nominee. This is the first picture of them made since his nomination.

'I'll Be Good Soldier'

Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon tells reporters "I'll be a good soldier and do the best I can" as they talk to him after his nomination yesterday as the Republican candidate for vice president. McNary, minority leader in the senate, hadn't wanted the nomination but bowed to his party's wishes.

Willkie Ready to Start on Drive for November Victory

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Pledged to fight for "the preservation of American democracy," Wendell Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, began today his quest for enough votes to give him the key to the White House next November.

The Republican national convention, with its shouting galleries and stampeding delegates, passed into history with the nomination yesterday of Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon for vice president and a tumultuous reception of Willkie.

All that remained was for the new Republican national committee to meet during the day, induct 30 new members into office, and select a new party chairman.

Invariably, the nominee has the final word about who shall run his campaign. In this case, however, the old national committee had approved the work of Chairman John Hamilton just before the convention met. It recommended that he be continued in the post, but that action was not binding on the new committee.

Although the whole world already knows about Willkie's nomination, and he has received deft hints himself, he will not be officially notified until later in the summer. A special ceremony will be held at Elwood, Ind., where with pomp and ceremony he will be informed of what the delegates did under those burning klieg lights of the Philadelphia convention hall on the night of June 27.

Fully as tumultuous, though minus the straining tension, was the scene that marked Willkie's appearance yesterday to thank the delegates for putting the party standard in his hand and to promise "a crusading, aggressive, fighting campaign to bring unity to America."

Confetti sifted down from air conditioning vents. It clung to his smiling, perspiring face, was tangled into the wavy locks of

New Dealers Increase Demand For Roosevelt Third Term Candidacy.

F. D. R. STILL SILENT

Expected to Declare Plans Shortly Before Party Convention.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Democrats lost no time today in launching an offensive against the Republican ticket of Willkie and McNary just nominated in Philadelphia.

As was predicted by old guard Republicans when they vainly sought to stop Wendell Willkie's nomination, the Democratic organization began at once to emphasize the G. O. P. presidential candidate's background as a public utilities executive and point to his lack of governmental experience, particularly in the field of foreign affairs

James A Farley, postmaster general and Democratic national chairman, drew the issue when he spoke of the "concentrated control" which Willkie represented.

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes, spearhead of the third term movement for President Roosevelt, also referred pointedly to the Republican standard bearer as a utility holding company executive and cited his lack of experience in public office.

Even Mr. Roosevelt himself contributed something in a facetious vein when he told how the power had been cut off on the White House elevator by some one and expressed hope no connotation could be drawn from Willkie's nomination.

Meanwhile, the demand that President Roosevelt declare himself definitely as a third term candidate grew apace in New Deal circles. Although their public statements dismissed the Willkie threat lightly, unmistakable under currents among Democratic leaders indicated that the transplanted Hoosier was accepted as formidable opposition.

"Roosevelt is the only man who can beat Willkie," said one New Dealer and many others voiced similar sentiments.

Nonetheless, Mr. Roosevelt continued his enigmatic silence.

REYNAUD HURT

Former Premier of France Injured in Crash.

BORDEAUX—(INS)—Victim of an automobile accident, former French Premier Paul Reynaud today was in a more serious condition than was first believed, according to official French news reports.

Physicians deferred diagnosis of Reynaud's condition for 48 hours, but it was believed the former premier's life was not in danger. His exact whereabouts was not announced.

NEW VIOLENCE

Lakewood Police Called to Strike-Bound Plant.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — A new outbreak of violence today sent a police detail to the strike-bound Precision Casting company plant where 24 workers remained overnight because of alleged threats from strikers and sympathizers

Chief L. B. Miller of Lakewood reported several windows at the picketed plant were broken by stones in an early morning demonstration. No one was injured.

STRATOLINERS

Five Big Airplanes Planned On Coast-to-Coast Hops.

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— Transcontinental and Western Air Inc., will place five new 33-passenger stratoliners in service July 8, cutting the flying time between Los Angeles and New York by about two hours, President Jack Frye said today.

The stratoliners, Frye said, will be the first four-motored planes assigned to a domestic route.

TRAFFIC TOLL

Highway Accident Death Rate Increased 6 Per Cent.

CHICAGO —(INS)— The National Safety council reported today that the nation's traffic accident death rate during the first five months of 1940 rose six per cent over the death rate of the first five months last year.

Traffic deaths through May of this year totalled 11,900, the council pointed out, and the five per cent increase in deaths during May marked the eighth successive month in which motor deaths for the nation increased.

Bessarabia--New Powder Keg of the Balkans?

Bessarabia bid fair today to become a new Balkan powder keg as Russian troops, occupying that part of Rumania given up to them by King Carol, marched far beyond the line agreed upon As Rumania massed troops to prevent any attempt by Hungary to take by force Rumanian territory she has long insisted rightfully belongs to her Hungary is a friend of Germany and Italy, and Rumania has appealed to Germany to make Russia live up to the terms of the agreement by which Russia took back Bessarabia. Germany has yet made no move.

CITY CLEANS UP STORM DEBRIS

County Sets Road Damage at $5,000; Church Belfry at Lucas Hit by Bolt.

Mansfielders were promised fair and cool weather for the weekend today as they went ahead with clean-up operations following yesterday's cloudburst.

Despite the weatherman's forecast of clear skies, the city got its daily shower about 10 a. m. today, but this one was hardly enough to dampen the streets.

At Lucas, workmen repaired the damaged belfry tower of the St. Paul's Lutheran church which was struck by lightning yesterday. The charge blew out electric fuses in homes near the church.

County Engineer Howard Sword, estimated damage to county roads in Friday's downpour at nearly $5,000. C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of county commissioners, said the damage was less than was expected since the rainfall was not as heavy in other sections of the county as in Mansfield.

Mansfielders cleared mud and debris from their sidewalks and attempted to get the water out of their cellars. No serious damage to streets was reported in the city.

Richland county commissioners were asked today by the state highway department to erect barricades and detour signs on roads in the Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill flood control districts should flood water force the closing of any of the roads.

Commissioners said only a few roads in the Pleasant Hill section of southeastern Richland county would be flooded when the water is high.

SEIZE PLANES

LA JUNQUERA, Spain—(AP)—The French government has seized 150 airplanes which were ready to be flown to French oMrocco, border reports said today. The planes had been concentrated in an airdrome near the border

Turkey Prepares For Mobilization On Syrian Border

ISTANBUL—(UP)—Turkey announced today that all civilians between 15 and 65 would be subject to service in some form if the government decides to invoke general mobilization.

It was indicated that general military mobilization would be ordered only in event of "exceptional circumstances."

The government was reported ready to mass troops along the Syrian frontier as a result of the decision of Gen. Eugene Mittlehauser, commander of the French armies of the near east, to cease hostilities against Germany and Italy.

Turkey sought collaboration with Iraq in an effort to prevent any sudden move in Syria which might endanger the interests of both countries.

No immediate spread of the war to the Balkans was expected to result from the Russian march into Bessarabia and northern Bukovina province of Rumania, but Turkey was on the alert, nevertheless.

GETS NEW POST

Dr. R. E. Bushong To Become State Commissioner.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of the Cleveland state hospital for the insane, will become state commissioner of mental disease Monday.

He succeeds Dr. J. Fremont Bateman who has held the $6,500 a year post since 1938.

Bateman said today he resigned to return to superintendency of the Columbus state hospital "to be nearer the practical, rather than the administrative side of the work."

Bateman has been on leave of absence from the Columbus institution, where Dr. E. F. Clouse has been acting superintendent. The post pays $3,900 a year and maintenance.

Dr. Bushong was formerly superintendent of the Lima state hospital for criminal insane.

ATTEMPTS MADE TO LOOT HOMES

Radio Stolen From One House, Windows Tampered With on Four Others.

Police today were investigating the burglary of a northside residence and an attempt to enter four other homes in the same vicinity.

Mrs. John Fisher, 25 Buffalo street, called police this morning when she found a $16 radio missing from her home.

She told officers that she had been up earlier and prepared her husband's breakfast. She said he left for work at 5 a. m. leaving the front door unlocked. She discovered the radio gone about 7.30 a. m.

Meanwhile four other persons in the same vicinity called police to report that attempts had been made to enter their homes last night.

Police said attempts had been made to pry open windows of the residences of J. H. Kaler, 50 Spring street; W. A. Perrine, 165 Newman street, and Henry Cole, 163 Newman street. Officers said the screen was also taken off a window at 468 Wayne street.

Two automobiles were also reported stolen last night.

H. P. Wappner, 176 South Adams street, said his delivery truck was stolen from the rear of Roth's meat market on East Second street, and Ford Borden, 113 South Willis avenue, reported to the sheriff's office that his automobile was stolen from a parking place on North Main street.

FRIENDS PAY, HE GOES FREE

Accused Child Molester Released When Fine's Paid.

When friends from out of the city paid the rest of his fine, Thomas B. Samples, 41, Cleveland, was released today from the Richland county jail where he was serving out a $200 fine for molesting girls.

Samples, who was fined by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, was sent to jail May 1. He pleaded guilty to a charge of molesting two small girls in Mansfield residential sections several weeks ago

WARNS AMERICA

German Magazine Issues Threat Before Conference.

BERLIN - (UP) - The magazine Berlin-Rome-Tokyo today sharply warned American nations against adopting an inimical attitude "toward the new Europe," either in economic or political fields.

The warning was made in connection with President Roosevelt's invitations to the American nations to confer anew and while the article was not signed it was marked by three stars, the usual indication it had been approved by Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop

DIES IN THEATER

MARTINS FERRY—(UP)—Without disturbing persons in the adjacent seats, Charles Burd, 51, slumped dead in his seat in a motion picture theater last night.

It Might Be a Dull Day But Sunday's N-J Will Sparkle

We'll admit there's been an awful lot of rain during the past week but we guarantee it hasn't washed the sparkle off the Sunday edition of the News-Journal.

To start off with you'll find six unusual pictures by the News-Journal photographer of scenes at Charles Mill dam; and along with the photos, Virgil A. Stanfield tells you the story of "the greatest conservation experiment in the world."

In his political column, Robert E. Rogers brings you some personal reminiscenses of Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Willkie from the days when Willkie was a young Akron attorney.

Jane Williams takes you into the News-Journal press and stereotype rooms in the fifth of her series on "Let's Go to Press."

With Harold Valentine and his camera you can visit the "city farm" of Dr. John S. Flattery. Another feature brings you the story of the origin of the Epworth league in Mansfield. Still another makes the almost incredible revelation that some people actually like to pay taxes

All these features are wrapped up in an attractive package of colored comics, women's and social news, sports, fiction, cross quz puzzle, comments by nationally known columnists and LATEST DEVELOPMENTS IN NEWS FROM THREATENED ENGLAND AND THE DISRUPTIVE BALKANS COMPLETELY AND ACCURATELY COVERED.

Russian Armed Forces Drive Into Rumania

Balkans Tremble at New War Threats; King Carol Speeds Mobilization of 2,000,000 Men for Defense of Hungarian Frontier.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Two hundred thousand German troops have been massed in a vast motorboat armada preparatory to the invasion of England, according to Norwegian reports to the London Evening Standard tonight. There were no details.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Aircraft flying very high over southwest England drew anti-aircraft fire today and there were unconfirmed reports that Royal Air Force fighters brought down a German bomber.

(By Associated Press)

Armed forces of Soviet Russia penetrated deeper into Rumania today, reportedly passing boundaries of territory yielded under ultimatum, and the Balkans trembled under new war alarms as King Carol sped mobilization of 2,000,000 men.

Sporadic fighting accompanied the Russian thrust.

Reports through uncertain communications out of areas jammed with refugees and soldiers said the Red army occupying Bessarabia and northern Bucovina might have crossed agreed limits in error.

Semi-official sources said the Soviet forces were in two towns 15 and 25 miles west of the River Pruth, western boundary of Bessarabia.

Events of war and war-affected developments around the world were the following:

Italy's famed air marshal, Italo Balbo, governor general of Libya, black-bearded leader of a historic mass flight of Italian planes to the United States in 1933, crashed to flaming death with his crew during a British bombardment of Tobruk, Libya.

Great Britain, facing a crisis with Japan, ordered compulsory removal of all European women and children from Hongkong, British crown colony. United States officials were expected to follow suit.

Japan's foreign minister, Hachiro Arita, warned western powers that Japan would permit no upset in the status quo in east Asia and the South seas.

The Italian high command said one of its submarines had sunk a 10,000-ton armed steamer and that some 20 British planes on the ground were destroyed in an air bombardment of Marsa Matruh, on the Egyptian coast of the Mediterranean.

Germany's high command claimed the sinking of three British armed merchant ships, totaling 11,000 tons, by a Nazi submarine, while another submarine reportedly sank 38,000 tons of merchant ships.

As Russian troops took over not only the yielded territories of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina but invaded old Rumania itself, the Rumanian government urgent-

REMOVAL: British Arrange Mass Flight From Hongkong

(By Associated Press)

HONGKONG—Great Britain, in preparation for a threatened crisis with Japan, ordered today the compulsory removal of all European women and children from the Hongkong crown colony in the next week.

Simultaneously, the removal of approximately 200 American women and children from Hongkong was believed decided upon by United States officials here. There are at least 4,500 British women and children here, but the number included in Britain's order was not given.

The impending mass flight was taken generally as a sign that Britain would reject Japan's demand for the closing of the Burma route to China, over which Japan charges the Chinese have been getting arms.

Japan was expected to retaliate by attempting to blockade Honkkong or even launching an invasion, observers said. It was said that Britain would adopt powerful counter-measures to any Japanese step, no matter what the consequences.

The crisis was expected within 10 days.

The British ordered the European women and children to prepare to leave by next Friday at the latest.

Japanese Claim East Asian Sphere.

TOKYO —(UP)— Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita announced today that Japan, under a new diplomatic policy, regarded all of east

KILLED: Italo Balbo Dies In Crash of Flaming Bomber

ROME—Marshal Italo Balbo, governor-general of Libya, was killed yesterday while piloting a plane over Tobruk, Libya, during an enemy bombardment, an official announcement said today.

The plane crashed in flames, killing all aboard

Whether the enemy attack referred to was from the sea or air was not immediately disclosed

The Italian high command issued the following special communique:

"While flying over Tobruk during an enemy bombardment on June 28 the plane piloted by Italo Balbo crashed in flames. Italo Balbo and the members of the crew perished.

"Flags of the armed forces of Italy are lowered in a sign of homage and high honor to the memory of Italo Balbo, Alpine volunteer in the World war, one of the quadrumvirate of the revolution, trans-Atlantic flier and air

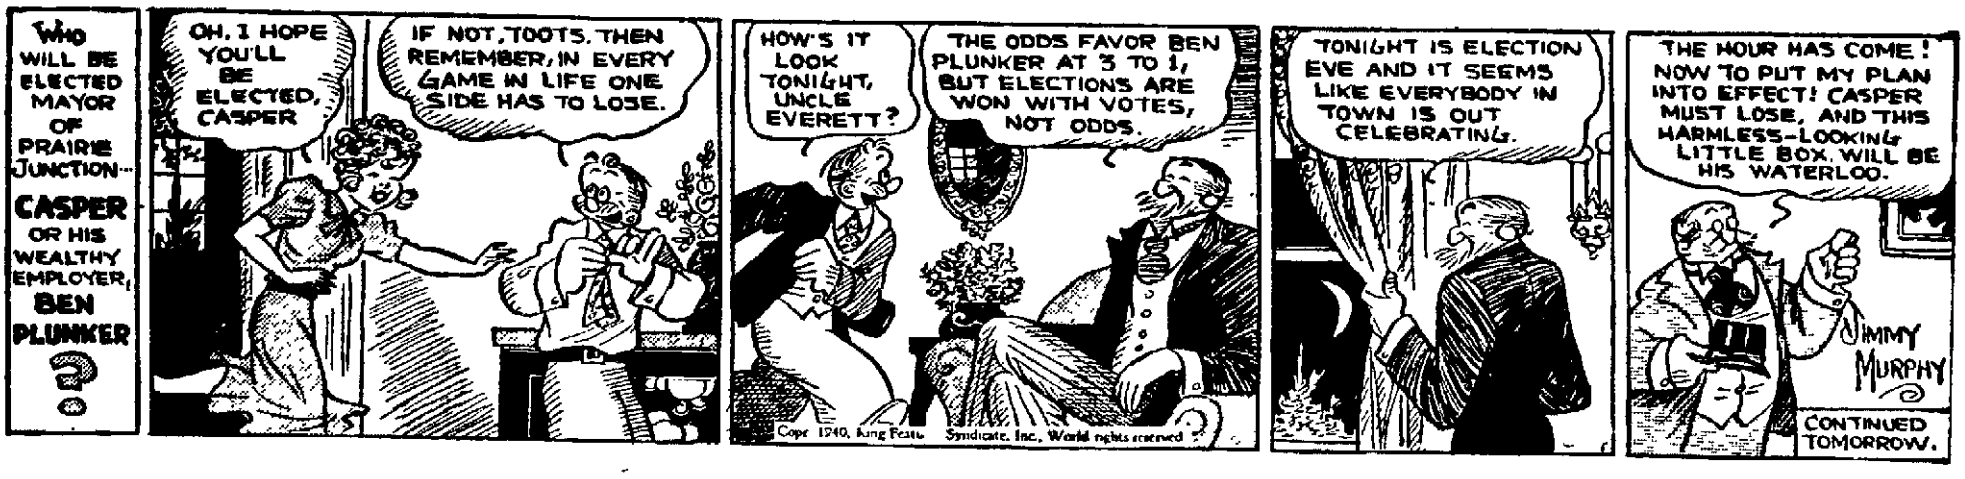
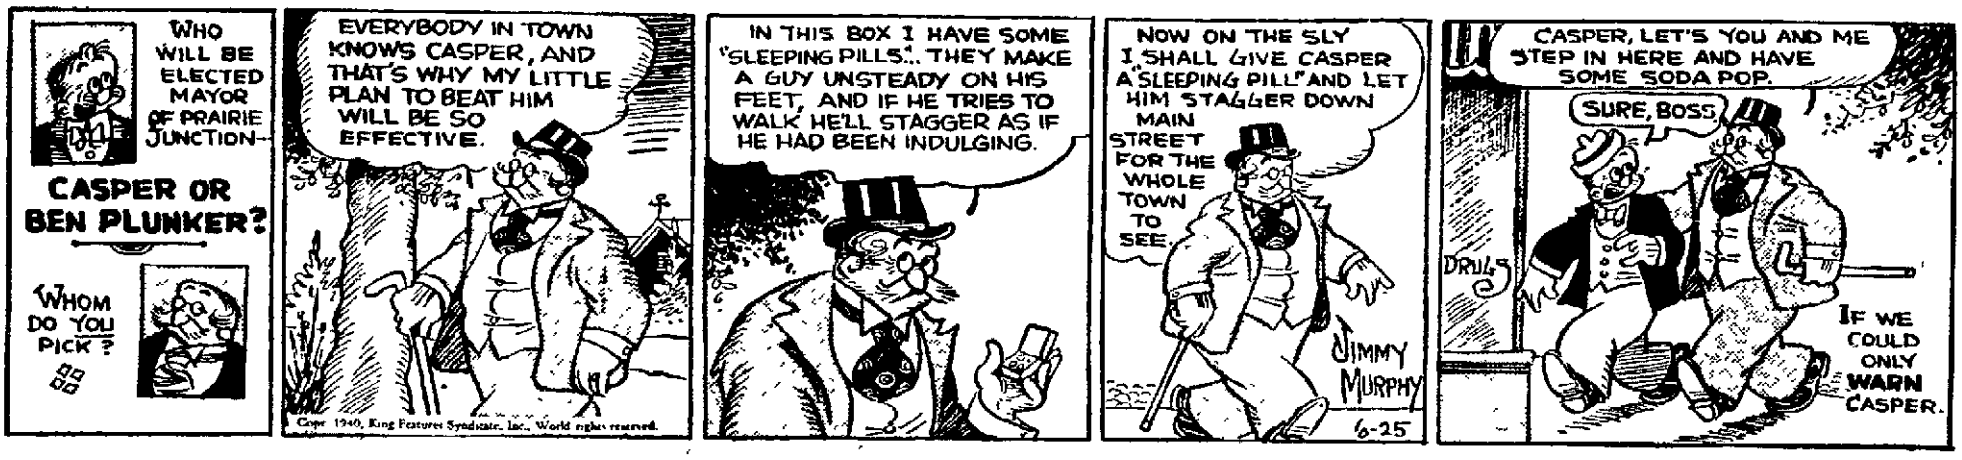
TOOTS AND CASPER

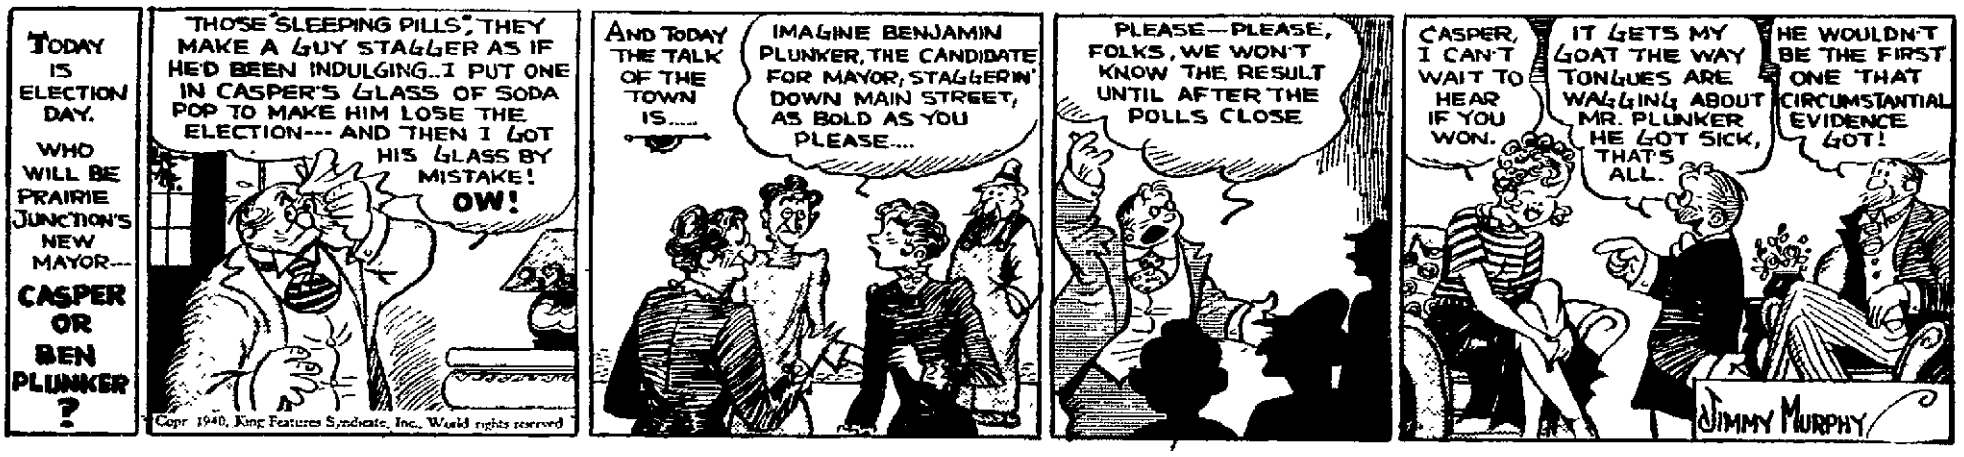


WHO WILL BE ELECTED MAYOR OF PRAIRIE JUNCTION-- CASPER OR HIS WEALTHY EMPLOYER, BEN PLUNKER ? ?
OH, I HOPE YOU'LL BE ELECTED, CASPER
IF NOT, TOOTS, THEN REMEMBER, IN EVERY GAME IN LIFE ONE SIDE HAS TO LOSE.
HOW'S IT LOOK TONIGHT, UNCLE EVERETT?
THE ODDS FAVOR BEN PLUNKER AT 3 TO 1, BUT ELECTIONS ARE WON WITH VOTES, NOT ODDS.
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
TONIGHT IS ELECTION EVE AND IT SEEMS LIKE EVERYBODY IN TOWN IS OUT CELEBRATING.
THE HOUR HAS COME! NOW TO PUT MY PLAN INTO EFFECT! CASPER MUST LOSE, AND THIS HARMLESS-LOOKING LITTLE BOX WILL BE HIS WATERLOO.
JIMMY MURPHY
CONTINUED TOMORROW.

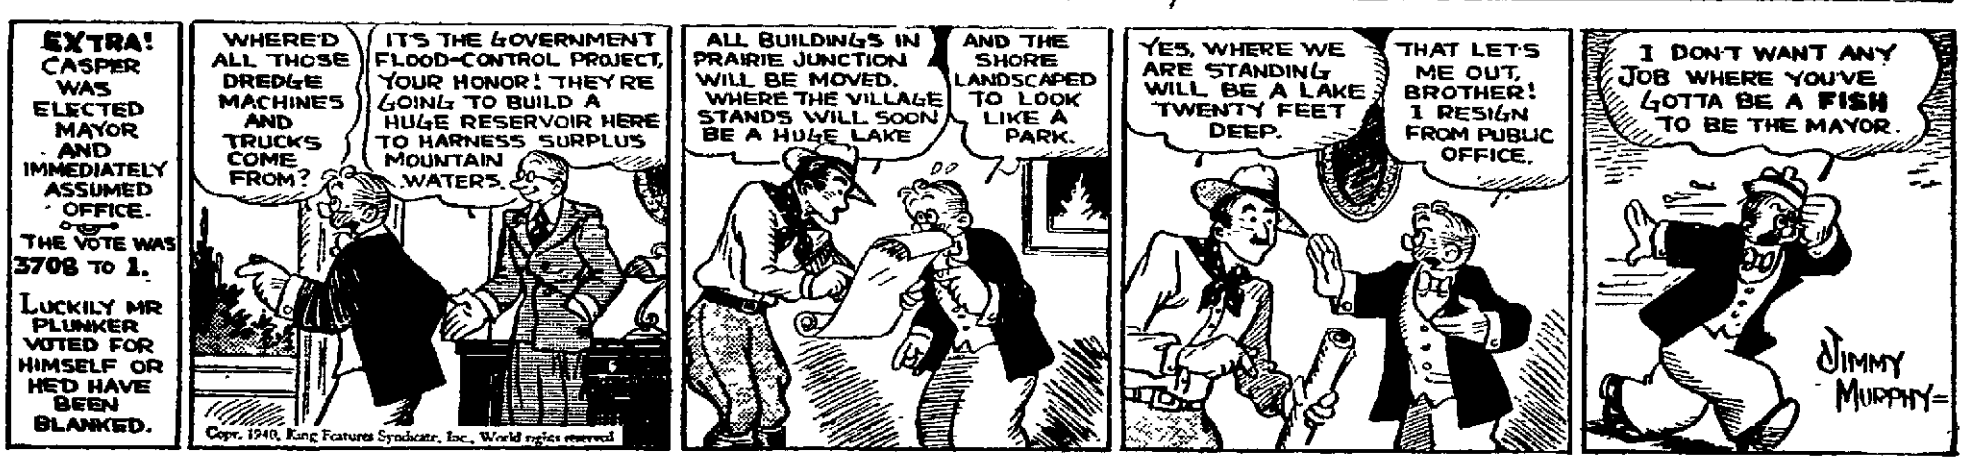


WHO WILL BE ELECTED MAYOR OF PRAIRIE JUNCTION--
CASPER OR BEN PLUNKER?
WHOM DO YOU PICK ?
EVERYBODY IN TOWN KNOWS CASPER, AND THAT'S WHY MY LITTLE PLAN TO BEAT HIM WILL BE SO EFFECTIVE.
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
IN THIS BOX I HAVE SOME "SLEEPING PILLS".. THEY MAKE A GUY UNSTEADY ON HIS FEET, AND IF HE TRIES TO WALK HE'LL STAGGER AS IF HE HAD BEEN INDULGING.
NOW ON THE SLY I SHALL GIVE CASPER A "SLEEPING PILL" AND LET HIM STAGGER DOWN MAIN STREET FOR THE WHOLE TOWN TO SEE.
JIMMY MURPHY
6-25
CASPER, LET'S YOU AND ME STEP IN HERE AND HAVE SOME SODA POP.
SURE, BOSS.
DRUGS
IF WE COULD ONLY WARN CASPER.

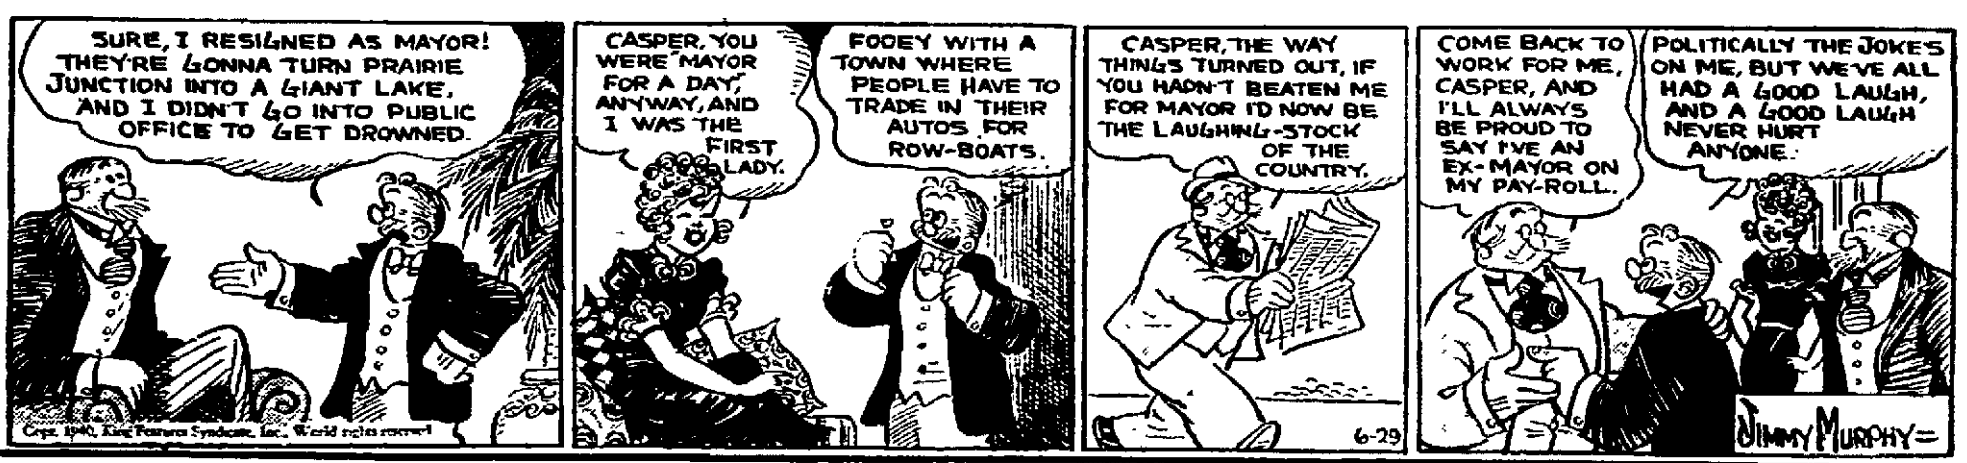
WHILE CASPER ISN'T LOOKING I'LL DROP A "SLEEPING PILL" IN HIS SODA POP! IT'LL MAKE HIM STAGGER AS IF HE HAD BEEN INDULGING--- AND EVERYBODY IN TOWN KNOWS HIM.
DRUGS
BOSS, I WISH THIS TOWN COULD USE TWO MAYORS SO WE BOTH COULD BE ELECTED.
HERE'S TO YOU, MY BOY! DRINK 'ER DOWN!
Copr. 1940 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
ARE YOU ILL, BOSS? YOU'VE TURNED PALE.
DARN YOUR HIDE, CASPER! YOU MIXED UP THOSE GLASSES AND I GOT YOUR DRINK.
STEADY, BOSS, STEADY.
HEAVENS! BENJAMIN PLUNKER, THE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR---- STAGGERING!
BEN PLUNKER'S SCHEME TO DISCREDIT CASPER BACK-FIRED, AND TOMORROW IS ELECTION DAY
JIMMY MURPHY



TODAY IS ELECTION DAY.
WHO WILL BE PRAIRIE JUNCTION'S NEW MAYOR---
CASPER OR BEN PLUNKER ?
THOSE "SLEEPING PILLS", THEY MAKE A GUY STAGGER AS IF HE'D BEEN INDULGING..I PUT ONE IN CASPER'S GLASS OF SODA POP TO MAKE HIM LOSE THE ELECTION--- AND THEN I GOT HIS GLASS BY MISTAKE!
OW!
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
AND TODAY THE TALK OF THE TOWN IS.....
IMAGINE BENJAMIN PLUNKER, THE CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR, STAGGERIN' DOWN MAIN STREET, AS BOLD AS YOU PLEASE....
PLEASE—PLEASE, FOLKS, WE WON'T KNOW THE RESULT UNTIL AFTER THE POLLS CLOSE
CASPER, I CAN'T WAIT TO HEAR IF YOU WON.
IT GETS MY GOAT THE WAY TONGUES ARE WAGGING ABOUT MR. PLUNKER HE GOT SICK, THAT'S ALL.
HE WOULDN'T BE THE FIRST ONE THAT CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE GOT!
JIMMY MURPHY



EXTRA! CASPER WAS ELECTED MAYOR AND IMMEDIATELY ASSUMED OFFICE.
THE VOTE WAS 3708 TO 1.
LUCKILY MR PLUNKER VOTED FOR HIMSELF OR HE'D HAVE BEEN BLANKED.
WHERE'D ALL THOSE DREDGE MACHINES AND TRUCKS COME FROM?
IT'S THE GOVERNMENT FLOOD-CONTROL PROJECT, YOUR HONOR! THEY'RE GOING TO BUILD A HUGE RESERVOIR HERE TO HARNESS SURPLUS MOUNTAIN WATERS.
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
ALL BUILDINGS IN PRAIRIE JUNCTION WILL BE MOVED. WHERE THE VILLAGE STANDS WILL SOON BE A HUGE LAKE
AND THE SHORE LANDSCAPED TO LOOK LIKE A PARK.
YES, WHERE WE ARE STANDING WILL BE A LAKE TWENTY FEET DEEP.
THAT LET'S ME OUT, BROTHER! I RESIGN FROM PUBLIC OFFICE.
I DON'T WANT ANY JOB WHERE YOU'VE GOTTA BE A FISH TO BE THE MAYOR.
JIMMY MURPHY



SURE, I RESIGNED AS MAYOR! THEY'RE GONNA TURN PRAIRIE JUNCTION INTO A GIANT LAKE, AND I DIDN'T GO INTO PUBLIC OFFICE TO GET DROWNED.
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
CASPER, YOU WERE MAYOR FOR A DAY, ANYWAY, AND I WAS THE FIRST LADY.
FOOEY WITH A TOWN WHERE PEOPLE HAVE TO TRADE IN THEIR AUTOS FOR ROW-BOATS.
CASPER, THE WAY THINGS TURNED OUT, IF YOU HADN'T BEATEN ME FOR MAYOR I'D NOW BE THE LAUGHING-STOCK OF THE COUNTRY.
6-29
COME BACK TO WORK FOR ME, CASPER, AND I'LL ALWAYS BE PROUD TO SAY I'VE AN EX-MAYOR ON MY PAY-ROLL.
POLITICALLY THE JOKE'S ON ME, BUT WE'VE ALL HAD A GOOD LAUGH, AND A GOOD LAUGH NEVER HURT ANYONE.

Drive Against Undesirable Aliens Starts Monday

FINAL PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN CO-ORDINATED

Passports Needed for Entry Into Country From All Neighbor Nations.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Federal agencies co-ordinated final plans today for the start of active operations against the new public enemies—undesirable aliens and fifth columnists.

The first portion of the campaign gets under way Monday, the effective date for regulations which make the legal entry of aliens into the United States more difficult.

A second portion—aimed at illegal entry and infiltration—got the "go ahead" when President Roosevelt signed a bill yesterday providing funds for doubling the border patrol and increasing the maritime inspectors who check up on alien seamen.

The third section calls for proper surveillance of foreigners already in the country. A bill requiring registration finger-printing of all aliens is on the president's desk. Justice and immigration departments are finishing plans for its enforcement as soon as it is signed.

The alien regulations, operative Monday, require passports or similar documents for entry from all neighboring countries, most heretofore exempt from such requirements.

So far only Bermuda and the Dominican Republic have adopted similar regulations for Americans entering those countries. The Canadian government, anxious to maintain the American tourist traffic has announced it has no intention of requiring passports for Americans.

To avoid hardships on Canadians and Mexicans who commute across the border for work or other reasons, the regulations have been modified to permit them to enter on their old immigration visas if they hold border identification cards.

$700 Still to Be Obtained Toward Red Cross Quota

The Red Cross war relief fund edged a little nearer to its goal of $12,000 when today's contributions brought the fund to $11,300. D. O. Meese, general chairman of the campaign, said today he was confident that the remaining $700 would be raised.

Stories coming from Red Cross workers in France and England tell almost incredible tales of suffering and heroism on the part of the wounded. Miss Elizabeth Crowell, American Red Cross supervisor in France, wrote of seeing 500 wounded soldiers and civilians attended by six nuns, and of the shortage in bandages and serums.

In Switzerland, where 30,000 soldiers are interned and 10,000 civilian refugees have sought shelter, greatest need is for clothing, Red Cross supervisors cabled.

The American war relief fund collected by Red Cross has reached $16,000,000 this week. There is still $4,000,000 to raise on the quota.

HUNTER CHASED

Almost Gets Caught By Zoo's 6-Year-Old Baboon.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(AP)—Witman Evans went baboon hunting and to his discomfort almost caught one or was it the other way around?

Babs, six-year-old baboon, escaped from a private zoo. Evans fired his only two shotgun shells without even frightening her. Then he took refuge in a covered cage, only to discover Babs had that idea first. He jumped out and called sheriff's deputies who captured her.

WINE STOLEN

ASHLAND—Theft of 15 quarts of wine, 50 packs of cigarettes and $12 in pickles and pennies from the Charles H. Rossbach restaurant here was reported to Ashland police.

Up and Down THE STREET

Those youngsters who belong to the Mansfield Braves' Knot Hole gang are going to feel more like ball players in the future. Approximately 1,000 members are going to receive baseball caps this week. The new caps will be donated by the Mansfield Hi-Speed Oil company and are available at the company's Park avenue east and West Fourth street stations. Youngsters must present membership cards to get the caps. The Hi-Speed company is one of the sponsors of the Knot Hole gang.

After yesterday's performance at the Baku Grotto annual fish fry, Mayor William J. Locke will probably be sought as a soloist or as a member of some quartet. With accordion music, the mayor led the singing in an obligato that would cause some higher paid performers to fold up their vocal chords with envy.

With just about everything else streamlined these days, the state highway and the Richland county road departments have compiled a streamlined county road map that's the last word in maps. A big map, designed more for office than home use, it gives the motorist about all the information he needs except the location of filling stations. It shows every house in the county outside cities and villages, and indicates points of interest, schools, churches, public halls, airports, city subdivisions, and all the roads, of course. Copies of the map have been distributed to the county offices, and others may be obtained from the state highway department at a small cost.

Most of Mansfield may have considered this matter of a new $310,000 postoffice building for the city practically settled except for drawing of plans. But Postmaster Herman Homberger probably won't believe it until he sees the last brick laid in place. Only a couple of days ago he received a letter from Senator Donahey giving "unofficial confirmation" to the announcement made last week to the Chamber of Commerce. And the letter said "official notice" would come along shortly. The letter did, however, settle one big question in Homberger's mind. He had been wondering if possibly the department was going to spend $310,000 in addition to the $180,000 already appropriated for previous remodeling plans. He's not wondering any more. The letter said "no."

DIES AT AGE 78

Mrs. Francine Brokaw Lived In Fredericktown, Butler.

FREDERICKTOWN — Mrs Francine Brokaw, 78, former resident of Fredericktown and Butler, died Friday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mae Neer, in Mt. Vernon.

Surviving, besides the daughter, Mrs. Neer, are one sister, Mrs. Jennie Burkholder of near Fredericktown, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Bollinger funeral home in Fredericktown at 2 p. m. Monday. Rev. Adam Bausman, pastor of the Baptist church, will officiate and burial will be in the Quaker cemetery north of Fredericktown.

POLISH TROOPS JOIN BRITISH

6,000 Cross Syrian Frontier Into Palestine.

LONDON —(AP)— Six thousand Polish troops have crossed the Syrian frontier into Palestine and joined the British forces there, the Polish government announced today through British official sources.

When it became apparent that French General Mittelhauser might throw in his lot with the Bordeaux government, the statement said, General Sikorski ordered the Polish brigade to join the British forces.

They were reported to have crossed the frontier with full war equipment.

BOOKS CLOSED ON BIG YEAR

$9,500,000,000 Spent by U. S. Since Last July 1; Deficit Zooms.

WASHINGTON — The federal government closes its books today on its most expensive fiscal year since the 1918-19 war period, having poured out over $9,500,000,000 in cash since last July 1.

As the fiscal year reached its final hours, the treasury deficit zoomed near the $3,700,000,000 mark while the public debt hovered close to a new record peak of $43,000,000,000.

Government expenditures for the past 12 months approximately $300,000,000 larger than during the same period a year ago with the army and navy receiving nearly $2,000,000.00 of the amount expended.

Revenues this year amounted to nearly $5,900,000,000, an increase of $300,000,000 over last year but still some $800,000,000 below the government's revenue record established in 1920.

The amount of money spent during the 1940 fiscal year was about half that expended between the summers of 1918 and 1919.

Agriculture received about $1,500,000,000 from the treasury this year while the WPA was given $1,500,000,000. Interest on the public debt consumed another $1,000,000,000.

Gold stocks on hand totalled $19,871,000,000, nearly 70 percent of the world's visible supply while the monetary value of silver was $3,900,000,000.

As the treasury moves into the 1941 fiscal year Monday, cash on hand totals $1,244,000,000.

WON RACE BUT LOST MEDALS

Owner of Model Plane Finds Craft Flew 12 Miles.

LINCOLN, Neb.—(AP)—Sherman Hackenberg of Kansas City shot his gasoline-powered model plane into the air at a recent contest here and watched it sail away so far he couldn't find it.

After seeing other youngsters carrying away the prizes, he made a futile search for his plane, then returned home.

His plane, badly damaged, was found five days later in a field 12 miles from the contest site, after making a longer flight than those which copped the prizes.

RITES MONDAY

Mrs. Mary Gossom to Be Buried In Mansfield Cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Gossom, 30, of 41½ South Diamond street, who died Friday at the Thomas hospital, will be held at the Wappner funeral home Monday at 9:30 p. m. in charge of Msgr. R. C. Goebel. Burial will be in the Mansfield Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Gossom died after a lingering illness.

WEAMER RITES MONDAY

Funeral services for Nicholas O Weamer, 48, who died Thursday at General hospital, will be held at the late home, 462 Park avenue west, at 2 p. m. Monday. Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will officiate. The body is at the Finefrock funeral home where it will remain until Sunday noon, at which time it will be taken to the Weamer home.

WORRIED TAXPAYERS TOLD U. S. TAX WON'T BE ON COUNTY BILLS

Worried Richland county taxpayers who have been hearing about a tax increase to finance the national defense program won't have to pay any additional tax on their real estate when they settle for the rest of their 1940 bill.

That cheerful information was issued today by County Treasurer John E. Kolb who said he had received a number of calls from property owners who wanted to know if their tax bill would go up.

Kolb explained that the new tax will be collected by the federal government on incomes, theater tickets, gasoline, liquors, and beer, and the county treasurer will have nothing to do with its collection.

There may be a slight increase or decrease in the real estate tax bills against a few county property holders, but it will be the result of fluctuations in property value and not rate changes, it was pointed out.

The county real estate tax revenue all goes to finance the operation of the county, city, and township governments and the schools, and federal taxes have no effect on it.

Kolb will begin the last half tax collection officially Monday morning, although he has been receiving payments for the past month and now has well over $50,000 to start with.

The county real estate and special assessment levies will be payable until Aug. 20, while the last-half personal tax collection will be made later in the year.

S. E. LEWIS DIES

Funeral for Mifflin Township Man To Be Held Sunday.

Samuel E. Lewis, 60, of Mifflin township, died Friday at General hospital following a brief illness. He was born in Richland county March 1, 1880 and spent his entire life in this vicinity.

Surviving are two sons, Charles of Mansfield and James of Mifflin; a sister, Mrs. George Milligan of Shiloh and a grandchild. He was a member of the United Brethren church of Mifflin.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Mifflin United Brethren church in charge of Rev. Arehart of Paradise. Burial will be in Zehner cemetery. The body will remain at the Wappner funeral home until time of services.

DOFF NECKTIES

Florida Bank Clerks Decide to Be Comfortable.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Ever feel sorry for your bank teller who has to wear a collar and tie during the sweltering summer months?

Well, things are different at the Union Trust company here. Employes of the bank wore open-necked sports shirts for one day and the public approved. Now collars and ties are out for the summer.

SHOW HORSES AT ASHLAND SHOW

Mansfielders to Take Part In Riding Event July 3 and 4.

Several Mansfield horses will be entered in the Ashland horse show which will be held at the riding arena at the Ashland fairgrounds July 3 and 4. The show is being planned by the Ashland Riding club.

Mrs. Roger Black and Donald Black will show four horses from the Raemelton stables. Velvet, Raemelton Lady, Virginia Dare and Tony. Glenn Vinson will ride his plantation walking horse, High Tone.

Raemelton Riding club will present a silver cup in one of the events. Reserved seats for the show, which is in charge of Joe Brown and Marshall Clark, may be had in Mansfield from Mrs. L. B. Hamilton, Dickson parkway, secretary of Raemelton club.

INVESTIGATION BY GRAND JURY SEEMS LIKELY

Far-Reaching Counterfeit Scheme Uncovered By Division Agents.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Assistants in the office of Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert today surveyed the possibility of a special grand jury investigation into alleged forgery of sales tax stamps said to have defrauded the state of a million dollars.

Investigators in the sales tax division were reported to have collected evidence of a far-reaching scheme to counterfeit tax stamps in small denomination and then to sell them at a discount to unscrupulous retailers.

The attorney general's office, it was learned, seeks to learn if the purported fraud can be prosecuted under the Culp anti-graft law enacted by the last regular session of the legislature.

Final decision for a course of action will be made when Herbert returns to his office from the Republican national convention at Philadelphia.

If Herbert decides the state had authority to prosecute the case, evidence may be submitted to a special session of the Franklin county grand jury next week.

The jury has been summoned to receive evidence in another alleged fraud through the redemption of cancelled tax stamps.

The stamps allegedly were obtained from a deputy state auditor now under suspension.

3 FACE CHARGES

Two Fined for Unsafe Driving on City Streets.

Three motorists were arrested in the past 24 hours for violation of the traffic code. Two were arraigned in court this morning and the case of the other continued.

Walter F. Myers, 43, of 171½ East Fourth street, pleaded guilty to a charge of unsafe driving and was fined $10 and costs. Police charged him with driving a taxicab 45 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone on West Third street this morning.

Arrested for driving a truck 46 miles an hour on Park avenue west yesterday, J. D. Van Valey, 39, of 28 Burnese avenue pleaded guilty to unsafe driving and was fined $10 and costs.

William F. Ost, 61, R. D. Mansfield, was arrested on P. S. route 30 yesterday by state highway patrolmen. He is charged with unsafe driving. His case is to be heard Monday.

ATTEND PARLEY

Six From Mansfield To Be at Lorain Legion Meeting.

Six delegates from McVey Post, American Legion, will go to Lorain tomorrow to attend the annual meeting of the Fifth district and to elect district officers for the year.

R. M. James, commander of McVey post, will head the delegates. Others are C. B. Harris, W. M. DeHart, W. E. Bradford, Ralph Hughes and Kent Oberlin.

C. I. Kuntz, Fremont, present Fifth District commander, is up for re-election. Delegates will be elected to represent the district at the national convention, to be held in Boston, Sept. 21-24.

500 Present as Baku Grotto Holds Annual Fish Fry

More than 500 members and guests of Baku Grotto gathered at G. B. U. park yesterday afternoon for the organization's annual fish fry.

More than 150 pounds of fresh lake fish were consumed along with steaming hot sausages and refreshments. Howard Schuck, monarch, said today.

Following a recreational program, guests were treated to four reels of moving pictures of the European war showing the sinking of the German pocket battleship Graf Spee and scenes of actual fighting in Hitler's conquest of the low countries and France.

A score of grotto members assisted in preparing the food. The committee in charge of the arrangements was headed by John B. Conard, master of ceremonies, and Harry Colbow, marshal.

Not That It Matters

A New Kind of Political Party Comes Into Being Out of G. O. P. Convention

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE OLD GUARD of the G. O. P. probably is reflecting sadly and with some bewilderment today that a Republican convention, like the old gray mare, ain't what she used to be.

Time was when the old guard could go to a convention, certain that one of its chosen standard bearers would be nominated, and of course with the comfortable feeling that a good Republican would be elected.

But now look. Not only did an interloper horn in on the game and take all the tricks, but one who carried the Democratic banner only eight short years ago. An interloper who was young, dynamic, and dramatically forceful. He came into the picture late, with no delegates and no recognition from "the machine."

Perhaps no one was conscious of it Thursday midnight, but in the Republican convention hall in Philadelphia a new political party was born. It was that party of which the "in betweeners" have been wishfully talking for years; a party of young blood and youthful supporters. It is likely to reject the most radical of the New Deal political philosophy and the mothballs eaten precepts of the old line Republicans. And to combine the ideals of the liberals in both old parties.

It represents a new party and a new generation of thinkers.

ONE of the things that Willkie has on the ball at the start is that as a Legionnaire and public speaker he has been beating the drum for greater national defense for years. As commander of the Akron American Legion post, he was preaching the need for increased national defense while Mr. Hitler was still struggling over the bad grammar in "Mein Kampf."

IN next week's issue of Liberty magazine there will be an article which every American should read. Virginio Gayda, Italian publisher and mouthpiece for Mussolini, who has been telling America to mind its own business, will write his personal warning to America that Italy intends to "protect its own" in these United States.

He will demand that the United States keep the Atlantic open to Italy so that Mussolini may come in to protect his "Italian minority" in this country.

Our first thought is that both Mussolini and his Man Friday have a thing or two to learn about the "Italian minority" in this country. It is not only possible, but quite probable, that the Italian Americans in this country will not want to be "protected" and they may tell Il Duce to take his "protection" and go sew the buttons on his old gray pantywaist. Thousands of them are good Americans.

Our second thought is that if there is an Italian minority in this county which feels that it needs protection from the American way of living, it is entitled to it—but not in this country, by cracky.

And the first minority that pops up and even LOOKS like it wants protection should be taken out into the middle of the Atlantic ocean and shoved overboard—while Congress is fiddling around about possible laws to protect us from Fifth columns and national minorities.

And if the Atlantic ocean is too far away from Mansfield, there is always Touby's Run.

BY A bit of good luck got into Wright Field at Dayton last Monday and was given a prevue of the new planes. They're honeys and if there were about 15,000 of them, we'd lose this depressed feeling that dark and perhaps tragic days are ahead of us in the not so distant future.

The Flying Fortress, with its 105-foot wing spread and four motors, looks like a gleaming silver bird with crystal noce and crystal bubles over its body. The "crystal" is non-shatterable glass and in the bubbles are formidable machine guns and one-inch cannons. The bubbles of glass provide lookouts for the gunners. The new interceptor plane is a slender trim thing of shining metal, its motors in the rear and one-inch cannons sticking out of its nose, like some fabled silver dragon that breathes fire. It has a speed of 480 miles per hour.

No, I'm not telling secrets. I'm merely trying to boost your morale. The secrets of our new airplanes are very carefully guarded and no one outside the service is permitted in the laboratories and experimental departments at the field.

WHEN the German conqueror stood at the tomb of Napoleon in Paris this week and paid tribute to the man of destiny whose career so closely approximates his own, did he remember the ending of the Napoleonic story? Did he remember that the conqueror who subjugated more than half of Europe, met his Waterloo when he turned his forces on beleagured England?

If he did remember, he must have had those graveyard chills.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—In all the palaver over the possible fate of Hollywood's anti-Nazi films, the one great eight-ball they're behind seems to have been overlooked.

That is the public clamor for escape films in times of crisis.

Hollywood, as lacking in foresight regarding blitzkriegs as were the governments of France and England, was paying its usual keen attention to headline material when it acquired story rights to certain novels and stories, or created its own yarns on the subject of Nazism.

"The Mortal Storm" was purchased before the outbreak of war, for instance, and chanced to be completed just when the efforts of the big blitzkrieg were evident. Chaplin was conceiving his comedy of dictators at least a year before he went into production. "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," now being re-issued, was a pre-war release. "Four Sons" was 20's answer to Metro's "Mortal Storm," and the same studio's "I Married a Nazi" was purchased as another topical subject calculated to intrigue what audience Hollywood has left in the world.

Wanger's "Foreign Correspondent," adventure yarn with implications, at least, of anti-Nazi feeling, is the outgrowth of Vincent Sheean's "Personal History" although today Sheean would have difficulty recognizing his story in the film.

• • •

All these films now have Hollywood dazed although officially no such admission is made. It is an amazing state of affairs when an industry that thrives on timely headlines gets the jitters because it suddenly has world-shaking ones tossed in its lap.

If it is fear of Nazi market reprisals in the event of a German triumph, Hollywood already has cause enough for that fear. It is doubtful that Nazi victory would make the punishment less severe if Hollywood now withdrew its celluloid weapons. No gestapo in the industry could report the way Hollywood thinks any more effectively than Hollywood itself has made that clear. Hollywood's European market has long since been whittled down to minute proportions.

Greatest worry belongs undoubtedly to Chaplin, although he hasn't even a newsreel on which Nazis could inflict immediate retaliation. Charlie's problem is a million dollars' worth of picture poking fun at a dictator who is not funny.

• • •

But seasoned showmen talk of the great danger in all these films and the threat to the boxoffice.

Some are fine dramas, beautifully done, with excellent star-names, and ordinarily would spell dividends. But in times like these, the show world fears that the public will seek out the theaters where it can find escape—in comedy, in musicales, in light, unprovoking fare that will permit it to forget briefly what's going on in the world outside. They won't want to think—any more than they're thinking already—of unpleasant facts.

There's no denying that Americans ought to see these films because they'll make them even happier to be Americans. But showmen I've talked to would trade the lot for one bright, snappy musical, full of girls and non-topical gags.

GO TO AKRON

Mansfield 40 et 8 to Be Represented at Akron 'Wreck.'

A delegation of the Mansfield 40 et 8 will go to Akron tomorrow to attend the big "wreck" that will be held in that city.

During the "wreck" there will be initiation of new members, including Harry Graf of the Mansfield voiture, and a smoker.

More than 12 Mansfielders expect to attend, according to Earl Saltzgaber, chef de gare.

REDS THRUST PAST LIMITS OF AGREEMENT

Balkans Tremble at New War Threats as King Carol Speeds Mobilization.

ly appealed to Germany to make Russia live up to the original agreement.

Germany, Russia's collaborator in many matters by reason of their pact of last August, stood—at least officially—on the sidelines and expressed official unconcern.

But Hungary, watching the Russian invasion of Rumania with anxious eyes, rushed troops to the Rumanian border and threatened an invasion of her own if the Red drive should continue.

Furthermore, Hungarian officials said they had the support of both Germany and Italy in this stand.

In Berlin, however, German official circles scoffed at the idea that any great dislocations were in prospect for the Balkans, but acknowledged that Germany's interest was to prevent a spread of war to a region which is such an important source of raw materials.

As a token of German uneasiness, a Nazi military mission arrived in Rumania's capital, Bucharest, last night, to see that Russia did not go too far.

Street fighting, with perhaps scores of citizens killed and wounded, was reported in Cernauti, Bessarabian city in the area which Rumania gave back to Russia rather than go to war. Communist and anti-Communist residents fought before the Red army got there yesterday afternoon. Then the anti-Communists took to the roofs and continued shooting at the Red troops.

Many Russian soldiers were reported killed at an undisclosed spot when they disregarded the cession limits.

Complete Rumanian mobilization was effective last midnight, for Hungary and Bulgaria both have territorial claims on Rumania.

Officials in Budapest admitted that Germany would like to keep Hungary peaceful, but said that if Russia went too far both Germany and Italy would give Hungary "full support."

Bulgaria, too, flexed her muscles, and the Sofia newspaper Outro declared that Germany would "act" if the Russian occupation in Rumania went past the Prut river.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, and the Moscow radio asserted the Red ary troops were received by the populace of the ceded territories with kisses, cheers and thrown flowers. There were no "incidents," they said.

A neutral diplomatic source in London asserted that "a peace move is in the air," and predicted that any Nazi attempt to invade England would await the result.

Nazi planes bombarded Britain again last night and early today, striking at the channel islands of Jersey and Guernsey, at southeast, southwest and northwest England, and at Wales.

The British said 29 persons were killed and more than 36 hurt on the channel islands, which already had been demilitarized and from which most of the population has been removed. Two women were injured in Wales.

German bases on the French coast were raided anew by British fliers.

More Air Raids on Britain Reported.

BERLIN —(U.P.)— Intensification of German aerial attacks on the British Isles—believed by many to be preparations for a land, sea and air blitzkrieg—was described in the German high command communique today.

The communique, issued from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters, said that yesterday and last night the German air force continued bombing harbors and arms factories in southern and central England "with evident success."

Continued British air attacks on Germany also were reported, and the official German news agency D. N. B., said in a Hamburg dispatch that two members of the crew of a British bomber were killed and two others taken prisoner when their plane was shot down in Schleswig-Holstein during a raid Wednesday night. D. N. B. said that another British bomber was shot down near Hanover and that three members of the crew were killed.

The high command reported that Hitler had visited Strasbourg, in the German-occupied Alsace-Lorraine section of France, on the 21st anniversary of the signing of the Versailles treaty, yesterday.

According to the high command German air raids yesterday on the Jersey and Guernsey islands were directed against troop concentrations and resulted in fires and heavy explosions in the ports.

(London and Guernsey dispatches reported that the islands had been demilitarized and had been declared "open" in hope of saving them from bombardment.)

Grim Warning of Blitzkrieg.

LONDON—(U.P.)—A German air raid on the tranquil channel islands was taken by Britons today as a grim warning that the long threatened invasion of the British Isles was now imminent.

Twenty-nine persons were killed and more than 36 wounded, it was announced, in the German raids on the Channel islands in which eyewitnesses said the German planes bombed and machine-gunned civilians. The islands were completely undefended.

German planes raided England and Wales also, for the eighth straight night of bombing or reconnaissance raids.

Five persons were wounded, three seriously, in the raids on Britain during the night, the home security ministry said.

his hair, lay in heaps upon the platform. A balloon, touched by a delegate's cigaret, exploded into a crumpled bit of rubber.

But Willkie paid no attention as he made a short speech.

"I understand that in America we all have a common purpose at this time that this way of life shall not pass from this earth," he said.

"For the rehabilitation of American economy; for the building of an adequate defense so that no dictator, however strong, may seek to strike; for the unity of our people; for calling again America to its great tradition of progress, I pledge myself to you, and I ask each of you to join me in this great crusade."

Home Town Gets Ready To Welcome 'Wen.'

ELWOOD, Ind.—Civic leaders of Elwood today cautioned this farming community's 10,685 citizens to "conserve their strength" for the day when "Wen" comes home to formally accept the Republican nomination for president of the United States.

The warning was issued by Harry Neanover, former publisher of the Elwood Call-Leader who yesterday dug up the four-inch type he hadn't used since the signing of the armistice back in 1918, and issued an extra-special edition, and Art Harrell, Madison county G. O. P. leader.

Their plea followed a torchlight parade and celebration yesterday in which every able-bodied man, woman and child participated, despite the fact Elwood and Madison county normally vote 75 per cent Democratic.

Harrell went so far as to predict without qualification that "Wen" will carry Elwood and Madison county in November, no matter who his Democratic opponent is.

His prediction was backed up by young George Sturbois, who married Julia Willkie, who is the daughter of Frank Willkie, who is the uncle of Wendell Lewis Willkie, who is the Republican candidate for president and is better known hereabouts as "Wen." Sturbois said:

"Shucks, the folks down here will pay no attention to party lines. Take my father-in-law, Willkie. Once he ran for mayor of Elwood on the Democratic ticket. He's Democratic all right. But can you see him voting for anybody but "Wen?"

McNary to Stick to His Post In Senate.

WASHINGTON — (INS)— Charles L. McNary, Republican nominee for vice president, plans to retain his senate minority leadership until the results of the November elections are tabulated.

This was the program of the popular Oregonian today as rumors reached the capital that Republican bigwigs at their national convention wanted the important post turned over to Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, if McNary, whose term expires in 1943, should resign from the senate before the elections are held.

McNary, whose nomination was seconded by Vandenberg, expressed a desire to retain his seat in the senate throughout the congressional session and campaign as he made plans to meet—for the first time—his running mate, Wendell L. Willkie.

"My present plan is to continue my position in the senate," McNary said, adding that future plans may be determined at his meeting with Willkie and other party leaders.

LODGE INSTALLS

New Officers of Shelby Arch Masons Take Places.

SHELBY — Chapter No. 178, Royal Arch Masons, installed officers during a regular meeting Friday night at the Masonic temple.

Franz Hall, a past high priest, was in charge of the installing ceremonies following the fish supper. The supper was another in the series of the "share-the-cost" affairs held this year by the lodge. This meeting closed the activities of the chapter until the regular sessions are held in September.

Taking office were B. E. Boreman, high priest; Don H. Cox, king; Gerald S. Dennis, scribe; Franz Hall, treasurer; John J. Moore, secretary; Davis R. Armentrout, captain of the host; Ross E. Stroup, principal sojourner; Walter L. Payne, royal arch captain; Spencer S. Kerr, third veil; Reymer Bricker, second veil; Ralph R. Johnson, first veil; and John C. Burgess, guard.

Shelby to Spend Fireworks Money On Red Cross Work

SHELBY—For the first time in recent years Shelby will not have a Fourth of July fireworks celebration.

Usually sponsored by the Shelby Better Business club, the celebration this year was turned over to the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars lodges for their sponsorship.

The lodges at recent regular meetings decided that instead of having a celebration this year that the funds usually spent for fireworks would be given to the Red Cross.

Again this year the ordinance prohibiting the use and sale of fireworks in the city limits is being enforced by Shelby police. Only caps and cap guns are being sold at local stores, although the usual "mushroom" stands have located outside the city limits.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"OKAY," Jim said with his usual stolid manner. "I'll get the station wagon right away."

"Hurry as fast as you can!" I adjured him, and then fought my clamoring impatient submission while I waited for his return and Lillian's and Katie's.

Katie was back first, but Lillian was but a minute behind her, and when she saw the things our little maid had brought at my request, her eyes widened approvingly.

"I take it we get into the masculine outer raiment and take our own along for emergency instead of the other way round," she said.

"I thought it would be better that way," I said. She nodded vigorous approval, and put herself into one of the outfits, while I was getting into the other.

"Lock all the doors leading into this kitchen except the outside one," I directed Katie, "and lock that as soon as we're gone. Then you may raise the shade on the window by the door and watch the car go across the fields toward Ticer's. When it is out of sight—"

"I no vatch eet clear out sight," Katie said hysterically. "Eet bad luck. You all get kilt."

"Then watch it as far as Ticer's fence," I said. "But if you catch even a glimpse of Mr. Graham or Mr. Underwood, you must put down the shade. Better not put it up, just look around the side of it. My father has given strict orders to have no one at the windows, but I want you to be ready to let us back in, if we run into any trouble on the way to Ticer's."

"Okay," Katie said, her face alight. "Dere dot Jeem now."

Her ears had signalled their message only a fraction of a second before our own. Lillian and I moved toward the door, and I opened it cautiously, first a crack, and then, as I saw nothing but the gaping rear doors of the station wagon, I pulled it wide open.

"No matter who asks, say you know nothing," I adjured Katie, and then Lillian, who needed no injunction, was at my side, and as we went through the door, Katie was already shutting it and I knew that it would be locked in another second. We fairly scurried into the wagon and shut the door after us. Then we crouched on the floor, as Jim got down from the seat, and, moving with apparent deliberation but real haste, took two sacks of apples from a pile outside the door, and opening the rear door of the wagon again, thrust them in, closed the door, and climbed up to his seat again.

"Looks better to be putting something in," he said. "Where do I go? Ticer's?"

"That's right," I said, "and look in the mirror to see if you see anybody following us."

"Not a soul so far," he said, and repeated the assurance at intervals until we reached the Ticer farmyard.

"Drive around to the back," I told him, "and find out from Mrs. Ticer where her husband and Jerry are."

A Startled Neighbor.

Mrs. Ticer, rosy, buxom, smiling as ever, came to the door, and we heard her tell Jim that her husband and son were away.

"Then everything's safe," Lillian said. I nodded, and we rose from our cramped positions, and alighted from the car to the accompaniment of a suppressed little scream of surprise from Mrs. Ticer, who, however, is too well acquainted with the frequent bizarre happenings at the farm in which she is often an invaluable ally, to be much disturbed by our sudden Jack-in-the-box appearance and our disguises.

"I declare! You gave me quite a turn!" she said. "Anything I can do?"

"Yes," I told her. "Please be on the watch, here at the back door, and keep one of your barn doors open. We may want to dash in here, hide the car in your barn, and ourselves in your house if we get a chance to get out of the barn."

Mrs. Ticer wastes no time in words.

"Everything will be ready, and I'll be on the watch," she said. "I suppose Jim's going with you."

20 TO ATTEND LEAGUE PARLEY IN COSHOCTON

St. Paul Church to Send Group to Luther Meeting Sunday; Gilbert to Speak.

Twenty young people of the St. Paul Lutheran church will motor to Coshocton Sunday afternoon to attend the Central Conference Luther League meeting.

Miss Virginia Lee Moore, a member of the group, and winner of the recent district Luther League declamation contest, will compete in the conference contest which will be held at the evening session.

The general theme of the contest will be "To Battle for the Right." Rev. Herman L. Gilbert, pastor of the local church, will speak at the afternoon meeting on "Music in Worship." Leo Barry of the St. Paul Lutheran church, Lucas, is president of the Central conference group and will preside.

HOLD UNIFIED SERVICE

The Unified service at the First Christian church Sunday will be along the lines of the conference program. The young people's conference opens at Lakeside this week-end and continues for one week.

Those attending from the local church are Joseph Wilcox, Myron Miller, jr., Robert Bechtel, Merle McCullough, jr., Donald Laser, Lois Robinson, Evelyn Rogers, Dottie Vaughn, Norma Selby, Beverly Wilburn, Helen Hagelbarger, Mary Jane McCarty and Catherine Stocker.

Members of the group taking part in the worship hour Sunday include Dottie Vaughn, Myron Miller, jr., Emmett Izer and Miss Margaret Wheeler. The offertory number will be a violin solo "Romance" by Rubenstein played by Miss Lois Robinson. Raymond Holmes will sing "Open the Gates of the Temple" and the choir will sing "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes" by Rogers.

Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger will leave Sunday afternoon for Lakeside where he will attend the pastors' Institute for Christian churches, the first part of the week; returning Wednesday.

TALKS ON 'HIGH VALUES'

Rev. D. N. Roller, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will speak at the morning service at 10:30 a. m., on the subject "The Restoration of High Values." Members of the Senior choir will sing "The Recessional" by DeKoven, and Mrs. C. O. Anglin will sing the offertory number "Invictus" by Huhn. Mrs. Twitchell, organist, will play "Prelude" by Coreilli-Clokey, and "Temple March" by Lyon.

SERMON ANNOUNCED

Rev. Peter Young, pastor of First Congregational church will use as his sermon topic "After This Manner—Pray" at the morning service at 10:45 a. m. Sunday. The choir, under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr, will sing "Sing, O Heavens" by Peace. Bentley Ford will sing "The Sovereignty of God," by Allitsen as an offertory solo. Miss Louise Krause, organist, will play "Prelude, Intermezzo and Pastorale" by Rogers and "Allegro Pomposo" by Galbrath.

The last session of church school will be held Sunday at 9:30 a. m., until after Labor day. Junior church will be held during the church hour during the month of July.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, June 30.

Sunday's horoscope holds some contradictory testimonies, although generally active and eventful in all that makes for progress and happiness. There may be a sense of depression or frustration, to be overcome by the progressive urges and tendency to thrill and excitement paramount and highly stimulated to adventure and initiative.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively, progressive and gratifying year, despite some inner tendencies to depression, introspection or limitation. With these routed there should be promotion, preferment and support from superiors or those in high social or financial standing.

A child born on this day may have brilliant and original talents, with prospect of gaining honors of preferment from those in high places.

For Monday, July 1.

Monday's astrological forecast is for some unique, peculiar or intriguing state of affairs, which, while difficult of analysis, may prove a factor in the promotion and successful culmination of advanced ambitions.

Those whose birthday it is may expect advancement, progress and influential support if their proposals have the merit of the unusual, the novel, the strange or unorthodox. The mind will be keyed to such audacity, backed up by keen intuitions and subtle vision or imagination. The old and thoughtful may be responsive. A child born on this day should be original, inventive, speculative, working in strange fields of research or imagination, with quick intuitive guidance. It should win cooperation from elders and deep thinkers.

DAUGHTER BORN

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JUNE 29, 1940.

Drive carefully tomorrow—so as to get in practice for the Fourth of July, when your life may depend on it.

Some young fellows seem to think that Opportunity will come a running if they sit in a car and honk for it.

Dorothy Thompson favors getting into the war and her husband, Sinclair Lewis, thinks we should stay out—which gives an idea of how difficult it is to find points of agreement.

Hunger Marches With Hitler

A SERIOUS food shortage is now reported in Belgium, by way of Berlin. Observers in Brussels, "watching the little kingdom trying to adjust itself to German occupation," are worried. The German Red Cross, said to be financed "domestically and abroad," but mostly abroad, is doing what it can to avoid a food crisis.

Nazi authorities blame this shortage on the British blockade, which naturally shuts off much of the food that formerly came into Belgium by sea. Since Hitler invaded and annexed Belgium, it is virtually a part of Germany and comes under the same importing handicap. The Belgians themselves are said to have destroyed food at the time of the German invasion, to keep it from falling into Hitler's hands and being shipped into the Reich. The invading army appropriated the food found in unoccupied homes and other buildings.

Short rations are expected in all the countries seized by Hitler, by the time cold weather comes again. Famine may spread over all western Europe.

It will be a natural situation where predatory war is substituted for the arts and processes of peace. The wider Hitler spreads his conquests, the more destruction there is, the more hunger and disease will result.

Japan's 'Party-Merger' Plan

RECENT NEWS from Japan has indicated that the government will go on a "single party system," a merger of all parties, probably with former premier Prince Konoye at its head. This would not make a great change practically, because Japan for some time has been a virtual dictatorship; but it would be a frank acknowledgement that the country has gone totalitarian after the European fashion.

This procedure is probably against the will of a majority of the Japanese, who are tired of unending wars of conquest and subjugation, and would like to see their country settle down to peace and reconstruction. But the war-makers, military descendants of the old samurai, the naval imperialists and the ambitious big business interests, all seem eager to forge ahead for further conquests.

From recent indications it may be only a matter of weeks or days until they strike boldly for conquest of French Indo-China and the Dutch East Indies. And then Uncle Sam will be face to face with a grim decision. Shall he move to stop the Japanese Nazis, or let them get away with it? And after that will come the problem of the Philippines.

Time To Amend Wagner Act

AMENDMENTS to the Wagner National Labor Relations Act, which were recently approved by the house by a two to one vote, represent a praiseworthy attempt to correct a law which has been a constant source of industrial discord.

The amendments provide for the appointment of a new labor board, separate administrative and judicial functions, permit employers to discuss labor problems with employes, require the board to obtain the approval of members of craft unions before forcing their absorption into industrial unions, and make it legal for employers to refuse to bargain with alien labor leaders.

In no way would these amendments deprive labor of any legitimate right or protection which it now has. The cause of honest unionism would not be imperiled to the slightest degree, and the right of collective bargaining would not be weakened. All the amendments would do, is to eliminate certain abuses which have no place in a free country. They would stop the labor board from acting as judge, jury and prosecutor, all in one—and they would deprive czar-like alien agitators of powers which have been employed time and again to foment industrial strife and violence.

Sick-Bed Graduates

AMONG all the graduations of recent weeks, none was more impressive than that which took place in Bellevue hospital in New York City. There were only four members in the class, girls who received both diplomas and "badges of courage."

Public School 401, of which these girls were pupils, is maintained in the hospitals of New York. It is for children, too ill to attend regular classes, who want to do the work of normal children. This year there were 75 pupils scattered through more than ten hospitals. The four graduates, two of whom are 14 and two 13 years old, have been ill with bone-deficiency, pulmonary tuberculosis, rheumatic heart. Three of them are so far recovered that they could walk into the ward where the exercises were held. The fourth, still confined to bed, rode to the scene on her hospital cot.

Education must mean a good deal to those girls, and to the nurses and teachers who have watched and helped them. What lessons of courage and perseverance they must have taught their healthier fellow students!

Third Season for 'Safety Town'

MANSFIELD'S "Safety Town," which opens Monday for its third season, has attracted wide spread attention as a result of mentions received in newspapers and national magazines.

Originated and developed by Fred C. Boals, school patrol supervisor, "Safety Town" is designed to establish safety habits in children of preschool age and combines the elements of "play" with the serious instruction it provides.

For those who have not seen "Safety Town," with its miniature street lay-out, its traffic lights and its tiny vehicles, a trip to Bowman street playgrounds within the next two weeks, or to one of the other schools on the schedule for later dates, will prove interesting.

Russia's Changed Attitude

THE RUSSIANS, driven by the need of more war production, are going off their revolutionary six-day week and returning to the old sabbatical week of seven days. It means fewer holidays and a lengthened working day.

The same tendency is seen here, and for the same reason. There must be more production. Nations will do for defense what they will not do from thrifty common sense.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Jaunty is the word for Joe Howard. Ever since Billy Rose rescued him from obscruity several seasons ago Joe has been the foxy grandpa of the Rialto. Just who is Joe? Well, Joe wrote a song your grand daddy will remember well. It's name is "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?" Joe is now living with his eighth wife. His income is fat, and his future is secure. In white tie and cape he sprints before the footlights every evening and leads audiences in impromptu choruses of "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." This song, a fine old beer-hall lament, was composed decades ago. But it is having its most lucrative year in 1940.

* * *

CAROL BRUCE, who sprang into prominence over night through her singing and dancing in "Louisiana Purchase," has also been gobbled up by one of New York's higher-priced hotels. She is being paid an astonishing figure to appear at midnight each evening and sing a few songs.

But all these tokens of smiling fortune did not explain her elation when I found her hurrying through Radio City yesterday. Carol used to work as a model in a sports wear store. Yesterday she ran down there and picked out a new dress to go with a funny new red hat her aunt made for her, a sort of Mexican affair with a wide brim that stands up all around. After she found the dress she wanted her old boss came in, rushed up and congratulated her. "I'm so proud of you," he cried, "I will not let you pay for the dress!" Carol's eyes still danced as she told about it, and displayed the new dress.

MORE than 20 plays on Broadway this year failed to last six weeks, and many of them barely got past the opening night. Twelve weeks is considered a successful run; anything less hardly gives the backers a chance to cover their investments.

But, even among failures, a three-week run is a major goal. Producers try everything in their power to keep a play running for 21 days. Reason: If Hollywood buys a play that has had less than three weeks on Broadway, its producers can not share in the royalties. The authors get all the money.

NIGHT courts used to be a fashionable mecca for tourists and New Yorkers who hated to stay at home in the evenings. Not much is mentioned about them nowadays, but they are interesting spectacles to those who never have sat in on any of them. If you plan to visit New York this summer a good one to attend is the "Broadway" night court, in the middle 50's west of Broadway. Sessions begin about nine o'clock in the evening and last until midnight or after.

The defendants are usually panhandlers who beg illegally, or street fighters. You will see a Harlem truck driver explaining to the judge just why he slugged his wife, or vice versa. Or a shop lifter who has been brought in to face the law with the goods on his person. It is a rapid-fire dispensation of Manhattan justice, and the audience finds it an interesting performance.

YOU'LL get a surprise if you open a door in the International Bldg. marked "Multiprises." This is an organization that finances people with ideas—such as inventors and designers. But the surprise comes when you are introduced to the boss, who is none other than the former cinema star, Gloria Swanson.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, June 29, 1920.

Five divorces were granted in probate court here—an unusual day's record.

Sale of newly erected houses on Dunbilt court awaited completion of street improvement.

Miss Freda Boebel and George Germann were married by Rev. G. A. Kienle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Beckley left for Canada on six weeks' fishing trip.

Farewell reception was given at First Lutheran church for Rev. R. E Tulloss.

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff and Miss Marjorie Norton were married at New Pittsburg. Rev. Sheriff's first pastorate.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, June 29, 1935.

Miss Margaret Van Derau and Dean Fighter were united in marriage at First Congregational church.

May grand jury was recalled to take up several pending cases.

Residence of Thelma Black, 337 Springmill street, was looted of jewelry and cash of total value of $261.

Twelve local boys left for Fort Benjamin Harrison to enter Citizens Military Training camp.

Police were called to several homes by reports of theft.

TODAY IN HISTORY

This is the anniversary of the birth in 1577 of Peter Paul Rubens, one of the most celebrated Dutch painters. He painted 1,200 pictures, many of them masterpieces.

Jesus saith unto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.—John 11:25.

DANGEROUS DRIFTING

GOP Must Heal Needless Wounds

—By CARTER FIELD

PHILADELPHIA — Wounds of this Republican national convention will plague the party throughout the presidential campaign. This is the more extraordinary in that it is entirely within the realm of possibility that events between now and electon may be such that the issues on which the wounds were made will disappear.

For example, all the bitterness about joining the Allies in the war. This writer is still hoping for a miracle, a hope based on the age-old tenacity of the British people, but the cold fact is that our army and navy representatives abroad, doubt if Britain can hold out much over a month AFTER the Nazis start their real attack.

Leaving our wishes, whatever they may be, to one side, suppose this happens! What will then become of petty disputes over whether the president aided the Allies more than he should? Is it not more likely that the majority of people of this country will bitterly regret that we did not aid them more, and sooner?

* * *

LET us consider another possibility—that the miracle happens, and Britain is still fighting desperately against superior forces with utter conquest a possibility, or a probability as the case may be.

What will be the attitude of most of the people in this country THEN, as election approaches, toward the politicians who bitterly assailed President Roosevelt for not having been coldly neutral?

The whole situation is pathetic, from an old-time politician's standpoint, because it was so unnecessary. The Republicans did not HAVE to make helping the Allies, or keeping out of war, the issue. They could have concentrated on our own lack of preparedness, despite the fact that more than seven billion dollars has been spent on national defense since Roosevelt entered the White House.

It is perfectly true that the administration can make a logical defense for that. But at the moment we are thinking in terms of politics, and not logic. It is frequently a mistake to mix the two. People are not always logical in politics. In fact, they rather seldom are.

It would be terribly difficult for the Democrats to defend that seven billion dollars of defense spending in view of the administration's own admission that we are woefully unprepared, and now really need to spend billions to get in a position to defend ourselves. They could produce all the logic in the world, and the probability is that it would not get to first base with the average voter.

* * *

WILL H. HAYES, of Indiana, now movie czar, when he was chairman of the Republican national committee in the tricky days leading up to the convention which nominated Warren G. Harding, was frequently asked questions by newspaper men just as embarrassing as those put recently to the present-day Republican leaders. He had two stock answers to most of them. One was:

"It is the duty of the national committee to assimilate, not eliminate."

Another was:

"It is the function of the national committee to elect, not select."

The Republican leadership of the Philadelphia convention might well have studied these two sayings. If they had appreciated the wisdom of the Hoosier whom many regard as the most effective chairman the Republicans ever had, there would have been no discussion of "reading out of the party" two distinguished Republicans, one a former cabinet member under two Republican presidents, and the other a former candidate for the vice presidency on the Republican ticket.

The target should have been Roosevelt and the New Deal, and no shot should have been fired which might prove a boomerang!

Listen, World!

We Need a Little Insecurity!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE AMERICANS are certainly in for some chancey times. And it'll be good for what ails us!

Maybe we'll stop being a bunch of soft-shell sissies, hopin' for padded and protected lives, and get lean and tough and reckless again—the way our fathers were before us.

Stick around for half a century, and you'll notice some mighty peculiar changes in this U. S. A. Time was when we Yankees—particularly the Younger Generation—prided ourselves on the fact that we Could Take Whatever Was Handed Out. We definitely did not want life to be safe and sure. To the contrary, we wanted it to keep us guessing.

Action was our Favorite Dish. If risks didn't come our way naturally, we went out looking for them. Never mind if they were dangerous . . . . never mind if they didn't pay dividends—bring on your fireworks, regardless! That was the "American Way"—the original American way—our greatest pride and glory.

Now, this, as I see it, was the way Nature intended a young and lively people to act. If young blood hadn't acted that way, the race would still be pollywogging around in the primeval ooze. For who's going to take the necessary risks and start the ructions if Junior doesn't? Which explains why we Americans hung up such a record when we all were hickory shirts and gingham aprons.

But, alas and lack, along came Prosperity with its padded seats and curb service. So what? Do we want risks today? We do N-O-T! Instead, we clamor for security, with all the perils of life eliminated n' gobs and gobs of steel-riveted guarantees in their place! A progressive idea? Maybe—provided you're so ancient that your arteries have hardened, your arches fallen and your upper 'n' lower sets are all shot. But as a policy for a young and up-and-att'em nation, it's a shameful sell-out.

Why in heck should husky youth or intelligent middle-age prefer or expect security, much less have it handed to them on a silver platter? Where's the red blood of which we were once so proud? Where's that Yankee initiative and two-fisted wallop?

Hard to get a job? Of course it is? And it was equally hard in 1904 and 1840. But what of it? Why shouldn't it be hard, if we have what it takes to face it? Why shouldn't it be risky and insecure? Are we men—or are we marshmallows?

One hears many a smug snort, these days, over the sappiness and stupidity of Britain and France in letting Germany beat them to the punch. But has it occurred to us that we Americans may also be lacking in certain assets which are even more valuable than fast planes and big guns? How long is it since we overhauled our fighting spunk . . . our pioneer hardihood . . . our lusty independence? And what a yelp there's going to be when Uncle Sammie's big, brave boys (and girls) have to get out and take it without anyone to kiss the bumps!

So I'm thinking that an era of INSECURITY would be mighty good for what ails a lot of us. We've lived safely so long that we've forgotten that men were meant to live dangerously . . . and go soft around the edges if they don't. We've begun to feel that we Americans have a divine right to sit pretty, with a wad of accident insurance in either hand. Well, we haven't! Grandpa bequeathed us a strong and splendid country—but we can't cash in on his sweat and tears forever.

IT'S TIME WE CLIMBED OUT OF THE HAMMOCK AND FACED A FEW BEARS FOR OURSELVES!

Timely Editorial

Saluting the Flag.

Those misguided "patriots" who raided the private meeting hall of Jehovah's Witnesses in Rockville, Md., rendered a far greater disservice to their country and its ideals than could possibly arise from a refusal to salute the flag.

The American flag is the symbol of a concept of life which grants to every man the freedom to worship according to the dictates of his own conscience. When individuals form themselves into a mob and invade that freedom in the name of patriotism they are menacing the very essence of this Nation's finest traditions.

Very few Americans will subscribe to a doctrine which holds a salute to the flag to be incompatible with any tenet of religion, but it is a shallow and destructive patriotism, indeed, which seeks to ride roughshod over those who do sincerely embrace such a curious belief.—Washington Star.

Summary of Week's Happenings

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

MANY of them still wondering how it all happened, Republicans wound up their national convention in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon and left for home.

Final action was the selection of Senator Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, as vice presidential running mate of Wendell L. Willkie, sixth-ballot winner of top place on the ticket.

With standard bearers chosen from the extremes of east and west, Republicans prepared to go before the country on a platform of "Americanism, Peace and Prosperity," with Willkie as the dynamic spokesman for encouragement of legitimate private enterprise and individual initiative, and McNary, a veteran in Republican party councils, as spokesman for the west in general and agriculture in particular.

McNary, who had been Oregon's favorite son for the presidential nomination, was not anxious for second place on the ticket but he was approved by Willkie and acclaimed as the man required to give the ticket "perfect balance." So he consented to be drafted.

Platform Problems.

Platform—builders encountered a maze of difficulties in the early days of the convention, especially on foreign policies. The structure of continental Europe seemed to be crumbling. What could they write about a foreign policy for America that would "hold up" till election day, and after? They finally produced 29 planks. All stressed the theme "The New Deal Has Failed America." Here are the highlights:

National Defense — "The New Deal (must bear) full responsibility for our unpreparedness. . . . We favor extension (of aid) to all peoples fighting for liberty. . . . The Republican party is firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign war."

Labor Relations — "We shall maintain labor's right of free organization and collective bargaining. . . . The National Labor Relations act (should) be amended. . . ."

Agriculture — "We propose to provide benefit payments based upon . . . a soil conservation program free from government-dominated production control. . . ."

Relief—"We shall remove waste, discrimination and politics from relief—through administration by the states . . ."

Social Security—"We favor the extension of necessary old age benefits."

Reciprocal Trade — "We condemn the manner in which the so-called reciprocal trade agreements have been put into effect . . . without proper consideration of our domestic producers and without congressional approval. These defects we shall correct."

Third Term — "We favor an amendment to the Constitution providing that no person shall be president . . . for more than two terms."

Taxation—"We shall revise the tax system and remove those practices which impede recovery and shall apply policies which simulate enterprise."

Credit and Spending — "We pledge ourselves to . . . levy taxation sufficient to cover necessary civil expenditure, a substantial part of the defense cost, and the interest and retirement of the national debt. . . . Expenditures other than those required for future national defense and relief, shall be cut to levels necessary for the essential services of government."

The two notable "set" speeches were made by Herbert Hoover and Minnesota's Gov. Stassen.

In his keynote address Stassen advised: "The challenge of the hour clearly calls for our Republican party to rise above narrow partisanship. Ours is the high duty to place the future of the nation above all other considerations, including our own desire to win."

Hoover said, in a speech that brought on an ovation, that New Dealers had "devaluated, pump-primed, and inflated," and met every failure by employing that "handmaiden of power named gimme a billion, quick." America, he thought, was being led down the "suicide road" toward dictatorship.

Ohio Anecdotes

'War's Hell Boys.'

IN THE halcyon days of the Grand Army of the Republic it was a keen problem for the host city to provide adequately for guests at the national encampments.

Mammoth parades led by Union leaders such as Gen. U. S. Grant, Gen. Phil Sheridan or Gen. William T. Sherman, astride prancing chargers, were frequent sights.

Typical was the Columbus encampment of 1888. Veterans literally poured into the city by train, buggy, horse and afoot. There weren't enough places to eat and sleep. Howeowners volunteered in the emergency.

It was during this convention that General Sherman declared his since widely-quoted opinion of war. He said: "There is many a boy here today who looks upon war as glory, but, boys, war is hell!"

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

The Hard Way

He always chose the hardest way.
"It is a test," he said.
"An easily accomplished thing
Is seldom brought or led

"To much of any value, what
Is readily achieved
Is seldom prized so very much,
And so I have believed

"That almost always it is best
To choose the hardest way.
And usually I find this course
Rich dividends will pay."

At Home

Taxes Climb.

Congress (in recess this week) has voted $15,539,970,027, a record high, to run the country—including rearmament—next year. A compromise $1,157,711,357 relief bill was passed before the recess.

Items for mulling when Congress reconvenes Monday: what to do about compulsory military training, labor relations and wage-hour amendments, tax revision proposals.

* * *

Nothing for Britain.

Because Henry Ford refused to accept a joint U. S.-British order for warplanes, negotiations with him for mass production of airplane motors struck a snag this week. Ford says he will sell planes only to the U. S. government. "My original proposal was to make airplanes on a mass production basis—up to 1,000 a day within six months—under certain conditions. The conditions . . . specified that they were to be for the defense of this country," said Ford. "My offer . . . still stands."

William S. Knudsen, recently head of General Motors and now of the U. S. defense commission, who "guessed" not long ago that General Motors could produce 1,000 planes a day, said of the Ford refusal: "Cooperation in the production of this important military equipment will be sought elsewhere."

The Market and Hitler.

When war began last fall, the U. S. stock market zoomed, then leveled off and dipped.

Much of the first half of 1940 was spent in getting readjusted to the fact that European purchases of war supplies were not as large as expected.

With the invasion of the Low Countries in May, the first impact of Herr Hitler's total war hit the market and prices crashed in one of the most severe bear movements in the history of Wall Street. Value of stocks fell $10,000,000,000 in two weeks.

Now, with the U. S. preparing to turn itself into a formidable military power, rearmament may take up most of the slack caused by the loss of foreign markets. Steel, aircraft and the motor-car industries all are humming.

Abroad

Flags and Bells.

At 1:35 a. m. Tuesday (European time) the continental phase of the total war which began early in May ended. On neither side were there the whooping shouts of fraternization heard on November 11, 1918. France declared national mourning. Herr Hitler proclaimed:

"In humanity we thank God for his blessing. I order the display of flags in the Reich for 10 days and the ringing of bells for seven."

Britons asserted they raided the continental coast and found on prisoners "much useful information" about preparations to invade England.

Japan Moves Close.

Japan sent warships to Haiphong, French Indo-China, this week. Her soldiers approached Indo-China and Hong Kong.

The Japanese said they would withdraw their warships when Japanese inspectors arrived in Indo-China to squelch trade through that colony with China proper. The French agreed to tolerate the inspectors in Indo-China. Similar watchmen for British Burma and Hong Kong may be demanded by Nipponese.

The U. S. sends goods to China through Indo-China. This week Secretary Hull announced we would frown on any attempt to alter the status of Indo-China by force.

People

Parisian Sight-Seer.

With a light brown duster covering his uniform, and ostensibly disguising him, Adolf Hitler strolled about Conquered Paris Tuesday. He beamed upon seeing the swastika fluttering from the graceful Eiffel tower, wandered about the Louvre and the Madeleine church. But he seemed most moved while gazing at the tomb of that Corsican, Napoleon I, Der Fuehrer's idol.

Billy Mitchell's Beliefs.

The late Brig.-Gen. Billy Mitchell, 1918 air force chief in France, was pooh-poohed in the twenties when he said he could sink a warship with a couple of bombs. In 1925, he was court-martialed because he persisted in heckling the army and navy high commands for failing to concede the effectiveness of the airplane. He resigned, when suspended from duty. Now, Rep. McCormack, believing the performance of the Nazi air fleet vindicates Mitchell, has introduced a resolution to exonerate him.

Science

The Uncommon Cold.

Colds can no longer be classed as common. Michigan's Dr. Paul Hanna, in a sneeze survey, found 15 types among which are starch cold, citrus cold, dust cold and drug cold. They are caused by over-consumption. A person drinking a quart of orange juice a day, for example, acquires so much citric acid that his body metabolism is upset. A good remedy for this cold, said the doctor, is apples, which abound in malic acid.

Marital Handicapper.

For nine years Sociologist Ernest Burgess of Chicago U. pried into the marital relations of 500 Illinois families. This week he told the American Home Economics Association that he found two factors most essential for wedded happiness: education and a stable income.

Best bets in the marriage market were college professors, preachers, chemical engineers. Worst flops, he said: traveling salesmen, musicians, and laborers.

In Short

Married: Senator Carter Glass, 82, of Virginia, to Mrs. Mary Scott Meade, 50, of Amherst, Va.

Resigned: Eli Oliver, executive secretary of CIO's Non-Partisan League, because he and the "overwhelming majority" of the members oppose CIO Chief John L. Lewis' anti-third term stand.

Discarded: Soviet Russia's six-day week (five days of work and a holiday on the sixth) for a seven-day week with the seventh a holiday. Thus Russia hopes to boost armament production.

QUIET CEREMONY READ AT PARSONAGE

Miss Mary Margaret Whisler and Robert Dodson Exchange Vows In Mid-Morning; Breakfast Served at Schwarz Tavern.

IN A QUIET CEREMONY at the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church, Miss Mary Margaret Whisler and Robert Dodson were married this morning. Rev. Michael Flynn read the service at 10:30 o'clock before members of the immediate families and a few close friends of the couple.

The bride was attired in a como blue jeroma crepe ensemble with white accessories for her wedding. Killarney roses and gypsophila formed her corsage. Mr. Dodson's sister, Miss Ruth Dodson, served as his bride's only attendant, and she wore a rose-orchid crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of Briarcliffe roses and gypsophila. The bride's brother, Robert Whisler, was the bridegroom's best man.

A wedding breakfast was held at Schwarz Tavern on the Lexington avenue road following the ceremony. Mrs. Mary Whisler, 137 North Benton street, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue sheer printed dress with white accessories, while the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ray Dodson, was attired in a print dress of copen blue, with which she wore white accessories. Pink rosebuds and blue delphinium formed shoulder corsages for both women.

After a southern motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Dodson will make their home at 181 Sturges avenue. For traveling the bride wore an olive green and white printed crepe dress with white accessories. A graduate of St. Peter's Catholic high school, she is employed at the F. W. Woolworth company.

Mr. Dodson, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dodson, 201 Glessner avenue, was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school. He is an employe of the Martin Steel Products corporation.

Introduces New Groups Last Night at Annual Recital

THE introduction of several new musical groups last night was one of the features of the student recital presented by Daisie M. Gibson before a more than capacity audience which overflowed the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. One of the featured numbers of the program was the playing of the first movement of the popular "C minor Concerto" by Bach. Lois Robinson and Mildred Hart were the violinists accompanied by Janet Baughman.

All three of these young women have given recitals or appeared in concert work during the past season.

The Boy Violinists, only federated group of its kind in the state, and now well-known to audiences in the Richland county area, played the allegro movement from "Unfinished Symphony" by Franz Schubert, "La Brunette" by Severn and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Four boys, who in the past season have given their own recitals, appeared for the first time as a quartet last night when they played "A la Gavotte" by Karganoff-Auer. They are Richard Beilstein, George Porterfield, William Klinger and Allen Sanford. Walter Simon was accompanist.

The Singing Violins, an entirely new group of 35 younger children, opened the program with "Sandman" by Brahms, and "Oh, Susanna" by Foster. Accompanists were Donald Hart and Bettie Gibson. The second new group, a girls' ensemble played "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," an old Irish air with Barbara McKinley at the piano.

Solo Numbers.

Robert Hart, accompanied by his brother, Donald, played "Bouree" by Handel, and Katherine Ann Schafer accompanied Jeanette Platt when she played the first movement of "Concerto No. 5" by Seitz. Denton Landon accompanied by Lynn Decker followed with "Turkish March" by Beethoven-Herturth.

For the second half of the program Alice Wentland, accompanied by Janet Baughman, played the allegro movement of "Student Concerto" by Woelber. Miss Baughman also accompanied Robert Baker playing "Salut d'Amour" by Elgar.

Another feature of the evening was the first movement of the "Violin Duo No. 6" by Pleyel with Richard and Eugene Griesbach, Ruth Smith accompanied.

Ensembles Play.

Students in the Singing Violins, Girls' Ensemble and Boy Violinists are Bob Beatty, Barbara Bailey, Jean Curry, Cuba Copland, John Domar, Philip Duckworth, David Ganyard, Charles Gaff, Lucila Getz, Tommy Gettleman, Bobby Hart, Norma Hamblin, Dean Karsmisky, Charles Lewis, Eileen Mellick, Julia McKenzie, Robert Oliver, Jack Romig, Doris Stenbring, Robert Troll, Frederick Todd, Paul Wilkerson, Evelyn Winters, Felecia Burgett, Marion Gilbert, Erma Jenkins, Frank Lane, Coleen Messemore, Ruth Smith, Edith Stretch, Dorla Wagner, Marjorie Zeigler, Richard Beilstein, William Klinger, George Porterfield, Parker Long, Kenneth Gettleman, Denton Landon, Eugene Griesbach, Charles Lewis, Allen Sanford, James Curry, Robert Baker, William Horst, Robert Black, Richard Griesbach, Eugene Menke and Robert Soulen.

Mrs. C. V. Marks and Mrs. Marie Marks Porterfield served as hostesses for the affair, in which 62 children appeared.

Columbus Home Scene of Morning Nuptial Service

A Columbus home was the scene this morning of the marriage of two Mansfielders. At 10:30 a. m. Rev. Paul Plasterer, family friend, read the formal service which united in marriage Miss Mary Marie Dickens and Robert R. Painter. The event took place at the home of Mr. Painter's sister, Mrs. Frank M. Taylor, who acted as matron of honor. Glenn Cline was best man.

The ceremony was read before an improvised altar of ferns and honeysuckle with tall vases of roses and white candles forming the background. The same shades of white and yellow were carried out in the decoration of the bride's and the guests' tables when breakfast was served to members of the families.

The former Miss Dickens was attired in white lace and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. For her wedding trip through Virginia and Kentucky Mrs. Painter wore a beige sheer suit with a gardenia corsage.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Dickens, Springmill street, while Mr. Painter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reid D. Painter, South Hills. The bride has been employed at the Weinberger drug store, while Mr. Painter is associated with the Painter Confection company.

Informality Marks Three Recent Weddings

Pictured at the right in her combined lace and sheer blue afternoon dress is Mrs. C. K. Dye as she appeared last Saturday afternoon at her wedding in the First Lutheran church. Before her marriage she was Miss Ruth M. High. Mr. and Mrs. Dye will be at home from a wedding trip through Minnesota and Wisconsin at 83 Ausdale avenue, Monday. The young woman shown in the photo at the lower left was Miss Margaret Gilbert before her marriage June 19 at 7 o'clock in the evening to Sidney Hofer at St. Mark's Lutheran church. The bride, who was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school this month, is now at home with her husband at 413 North Vine street, Orrville. Another marriage to take place at the First Lutheran church was that of Miss Margaret McLaughlin, right, who became the bride of Joseph Liabach June 15 at 9:30 a. m. Mr. and Mrs. Liabach are making their home with the bride's mother, Mrs. Bertha McLaughlin, Oak street road. Both the former Miss Gilbert and the former Miss McLaughlin were attired in simple dark blue street frocks for their quiet marriages.

Hayes M. Braker Officiates; Pair Married Today

WEARING a formal white net gown printed with a white daisy design, Miss Elmira Elverda Caugherty was united in marriage with John Herbert Russell at 11 o'clock this morning before the palm and rose banked altar of the Park Avenue Baptist church. Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony. Organ nuptial music was played by Lawrence Frank and Miss Wanda Hess sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Caugherty, 623 Bowman street, was escorted by her father. With her gown she wore a fingertip veil and a bracelet that was a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a bouquet of white roses and swansonia.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Sauer served as the maid of honor, and she wore a blue and white formal gown. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and sweetpeas. The Misses Grace Illene Caugherty, sister of the bride; Virginia E. Sutter of Rome, Marjorie E. Walker and Jean Herrick were the bridesmaids. These young women wore formals in shades of pink, blue and yellow, and shoulder corsages of sweetpeas and roses.

The bride's brother, Charles E. Caugherty, jr., was Mr. Russell's best man. John and William Caugherty, Ralph Brown, and Melvin Harner were the ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding party was seated at a long table decorated with a tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal pair, roses and lighted candles.

Later today, Mr. and Mrs. Russell will leave for a week's trip to the World fair in New York City. Upon their return, they will reside temporarily at 420 Springmill street. For traveling Mrs. Russell wore a navy blue and white ensemble with white accessories and gardenia shoulder corsage.

The bride attended Ontario high school. Mr. Russell, who is the son of Frank Russell, 188 East Third street, is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and an employe of the Tappan Stove company.

STEINMETZ-HUCK VOWS EXCHANGED

Msgr. R. C. Goebel Officiates for Formal Service Performed Early Today; 90 Attend Dinner; Reception Set for Tonight.

AT 9:30 O'CLOCK this morning, Miss Marcella Marie Steinmetz became the bride of John Huck before the altar of St. Peter's Catholic church. Msgr. R. C. Goebel performed the ceremony, and Raymond Baum furnished the organ music.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Steinmetz, 275 Auburn street, was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal wedding gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a full circular skirt cascading from a wide inset girdle and ending in a long train. Two pearl clips decorated the sweetheart neckline of the dress. Her virgin style cape veil was held in place by an illusion tiara headpiece trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a semi-colonial bouquet of Kilarney roses, gardenias, white larkspur and gypsophila.

Miss Rita Steinmetz served as her sister's maid of honor, wearing a pastel blue dress of starched net. Miss Ruby Steinmetz, another sister of the bride, and Miss Rose Huck, sister of the bridegroom, were the bridesmaids, and they wore gowns of pale pink starched net. These dresses featured double net skirts, trimmed with large lace medallions, shirred bodices, short puffed sleeves and sweetheart necklines. All three young women wore garden hats of hairbraid to match their gowns, trimmed with contrasting streamers of grosgrain ribbon that fell to the hemline of their gowns. They carried arm bouquets of pink larkspur, blue delphinium and Briarcliff roses.

Mr. Huck, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Huck, 316 Wayne street, chose Albeit Stirtzinger to be his best man. Kermit Hiler of New Washington, cousin of the bride, and Joseph Weber, Mr. Huck's cousin, were the ushers.

Mrs. Steinmetz appeared at her daughter's wedding wearing a powder blue net dress with white accessories, and Mrs. Huck was attired in a navy blue net dress with white accessories. They both completed their costumes with gardenia shoulder corsages.

Dinner was served to 90 relatives and friends at the Sons of Herman hall this noon, and this evening a reception will be held for 200 guests at 8 o'clock in the hall.

The couple will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Huck. The bride attended high school in New Washington and is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Huck, who is employed at the Ohio Brass company, attended St. Peter's Catholic high school.

Mrs. Thomas Has Musical, Presents Student Pianists

A group of friends and relatives of Martha Thomas and her students were present yesterday afternoon at the Women's Club for a musicale tea. Miss Anne Yirga presided at the table. The program was opened by Elaine Sellers playing "Verti la Giubba" by Leoncavatto, and Pauline Desterhaft presenting "Poupee Valsante" by Poldimi.

Dorothy Eyerly and Mrs. Thomas played the piano duet "Sibersterne" by Bohn, and they were followed by LaVera McEowen playing "Liebestraum" by Liszt.

Assisting vocalist was Helen Forwith, lyric soprano, sang "Serenade" by Schubert, and "Cielita Lindo" by Fernandez, with Miss Elizabeth Mike as accompanist. Another duet featured Miss McEowen and Miss Eyerly playing "Minuet In G" by Beethoven, and Miss Sellers made her second appearance playing "Gluhwurmchen" by Linike.

For their selection the Desterhaft-Thomas duet played "Valse Lente" by Schuett, and Miss Mike came to the piano to play "Narcissus" by Nevin. In conclusion Miss Eyerly played "Robina Verto" by Fisher, and Miss Sellers and Miss Mike played "Two Guitars" by Conrad.

SERVE BREAKFAST.

Breakfast was served to 25 members and guests of Class 27 of the First Christian church yesterday morning at North Lake park pavilion. Mrs. Anna Wheeler was in charge of the devotions, and Mrs. Ralph Kornoely had charge of the program. Miss Margaret Wheeler talked on the adult conference. Mrs. J. O. Byers was in charge of the meeting. The next session will be a picnic held at noon July 26 at North Lake park.

FOREST FURY

By OREN ARNOLD (Copyright 1940)

CHAPTER XIII

"Sure. You ought to. Good hunting in the fall. Everybody knows how to shoot out here, although I must admit we don't shoot people often!" Sue laughed gaily at that. "It's just a sort of custom to be familiar with guns. Like playing golf in other places, I guess."

Rosemary shook her head. "Well, I'm learning. I had a lot to learn about your country. What time is it?"

"It's after four now, and—hey, there's another car. Where's Walpi?"

"Off somewhere, when I needed him most! Come help me wait on the customer."

They tripped back down the inside stairs and in the big double front door they instantly saw silhouetted the handsome military form of Bob King.

"Salutations!" he called, loudly. "I have here a magic gift that brings the world to your door. How's everything!"

"Sh-h-h!" Rosemary warned Sue, then aloud, "Fine, Bob! How are you? And what is the gift?"

They ran to meet him, and the box he held proved to be a brand new portable radio, a beautifully made thing with a handle like a suitcase. Proudly he flipped its switch, dialed it and sat it on the store counter.

* * *

Dr. Montgomery left his work table a second time to come look at another man caller. Quietly he watched the others from the shadows around the stacks of Navajo rugs. He did not announce his presence, nor did the girls mention him. Maybe they were being considerate of his hurt feelings, he imagined. Perhaps it would be best to remain quiet. He sighed and went back to his chair.

"Roll up the rugs and we'll have a barrel of fun!" Bob half sang it, as he did really roll some of the rugs off the immediate floor area. The big chain station at Phoenix was coming in strong with tuneful dance rhythm.

Bob pitched his hat at a chair and, swaying a little and smiling happily, took Rosemary in his arms and began dancing rapidly. Sue was back beside a triple-decked steel rack that held assorted sizes of nails, and all in a moment she apparently was completely forgotten. There before her was the man she loved, dancing with the girl who loved him.

She forced a smile, as if happy with and for them. In a way she really was glad: this was a part of her carefully made decision. She turned to face Monty Montgomery. He had left his chair when the dancing started, and came again to stand beside the stack of rugs, looking on. Sue perceived that his handsome, somewhat flushed face looked shockingly forlorn.

* * *

As usual toward the close of day, more and more customers began to come to the Summit Trading Post.

For one thing, six Indian men with two squaws and three children filed silently into the store while Bob and Rosemary were dancing to the music of the new radio he had brought. Rosemary made a move to stop, but Bob kept her at it, smiling insistent. The red folk liked it. They stood along the edge of the rolled-up rugs, staring and grinning in obvious pleasure.

"Come on," Bob whispered. "Let's do a little truckin' for 'em. All the fancy stuff we can."

Rosemary a trifle embarrassed, matched his mood. For two or three minutes she and Bob put on an act that was as odd and fanciful in its way as any war dance that might have been done by the Indians themselves. Rosemary marveled that Bob knew some of the latest steps she had learned in New York; but then, she guessed these things got around fast in modern America. Out here in Arizona people carry pistols and shoot boorish men, and still know what the night clubs along the Hudson are offering. She sighed.

* * *

When the music ended Sue applauded, and the Indians feebly clapped their hands. And then Mr. McKee, Sue's father, strode in the front door.

He was a fine looking gentleman, as all executives and indeed all younger employes in the United States Forest Service are. He held that quiet air of efficiency and assurance that adds distinction to any man.

Sue saw him immediately and called out, "Hi, daddy!" But instead of going to him she went around the tables and stacks of merchandise and came to Monty who was standing alone.

"Listen, Monty, maybe it's best not to mention the little—difficulty," she spoke in low tone. "We don't want to embarrass Rosemary."

He nodded. He wondered if she were doing it to same his own face, because he had failed so completely to be a protector for Rosemary. In any event he was grateful.

Mr. McKee was beaming and talking heartily.

"—regular fiesta going on, by george, and nobody had invited me! Didn't know you planned to open another dance hall here in the post, Miss Rosemary!"

"Hush teasing, Mr. McKee!" Rosemary smiled impishly at him. "You never need an invitation to my store, and you know it. Come on—the music's on again."

She put herself in his arms and began forcing him to dance. Sue cackled out in loud laughter. "Daddy can't dance, Rosemary! He's gawky as an ox. Hasn't danced in decades!"

Rosemary's under lip had tucked in that half-controlled smile which was so characteristic of her, and which somehow added youth and a certain arresting charm. She was stepping rapidly, and warily. Poor Mr. McKee in turn was laboring with all his might. The Indians all began laughing. Bob King was showing a broad grin.

Monty Montgomery had come forward and, happy at the diversion actually smiled. "Oh I say, Mr. McKee, bravo!" Monty's enthusiasm was returning.

When the number was done, Mr. McKee bowed with great formality.

"Whew! . . . Thanks, honey! . . . In a minute, when I catch my breath I'll try to think of something gallant to say. Bob, doggone you, son, I delegate you to take care of the department's dancing hereafter!"

* * *

Everybody laughed again. Walpi Tom had come back, and because more customers had entered the store, the radio was shut off and the floor rugs put back in place. Rosemary and her personal guests formed a little knot to one side, and all at once Sue spoke.

"Daddy, if Rosemary and I make sandwiches, will you and Bob and Monty go on a picnic with us? Down by the lake? With two big and strong handsome forest rangers along, we could even build a camp fire, maybe."

"Let's do!" Rosemary urged.

On the instant both girls started away to prepare the things. Mr. McKee said, "I came here to say something, but—well, all right. Your mother isn't expecting me until late anyway. You kids won't tell I was cutting up, eh?"

"No promises!" Sue answered, from the rear of the store.

It happened that the trading post had a large electric refrigerator, and only the day before a wholesale meat dealer in Flagstaff had brought out some fresh meat. With Bob's aid the girls cut off five thick T-bone steaks, and shelved the plans for sandwiches.

"Steak is he-man food," Mr. McKee approved. "Isn't it Dr. Montgomery, eh?"

"Quite so." Monty was enjoying the comradeship again now. He liked the forest supervisor, Bob King's boss.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

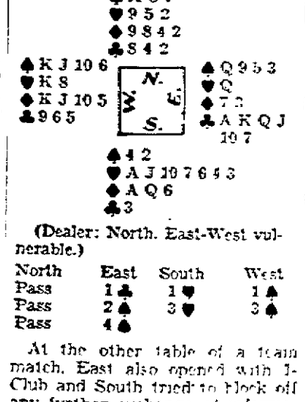
"The Authority on Authorities"

NOT A GOOD PRE-EMPT

Many of the best players, who have no prejudice against pre-emptive bids, will not make them if their hands have any defensive value at all. No matter how long their suit, and how weak their side holdings, they will not try a high shutout if their suit is headed by the ace, a card which may be worth a trick against anyone's contract. They have learned that many a time the partner's hand furnishes enough additional strength, so that a single trick of their own is enough to swing the balance.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
Pass	1♣	1♥	1♠
Pass	2♠	3♥	3♠
Pass	4♠

At the other table of a team match, East also opened with 1-Club and South tried to block off any further exchange of information by bidding 4-Hearts. West doubled him and set the contract two tricks, East and West getting one trick in clubs, two in diamonds, one in hearts and one in spades. South thought he had won the deal for his side, as he felt sure East and West would play the deal at 4-Spades at the other table.

He was right about the bidding there, but wrong about the play. With the bidding as given above, North could only lead his partner's heart suit. South won with his A and returned his singleton club, in the hope that North had the trump A. He did. The dummy won the club trick, and led a spade which North won. He fired back a club, which South ruffed. That made three tricks, and the diamond A was the setter. So the South player who jumped lest the hand for his team, the opponents getting a plus score at both tables.

* * *

Your Week-End Lesson.

If South bids 1-Diamond, West 1-Heart, what should you, as North, do, holding the following hands, with (A) neither side vulnerable, (B) your side only, (C) your opponents only, (D) both sides?

Democrats Attack Willkie Background; Demand Third Term.

One close associate—prefacing his observations with the statement he had talked to the president on the subject—predicted that Mr. Roosevelt would declare his intentions shortly before the actual balloting begins at the Democratic convention, which opens in Chicago July 15.

This source's line of reasoning was that the president, in fairness to other Democratic candidates, would not permit himself to be drafted without making a definite statement of position in advance. The names of Postmaster General Farley, Vice President Garner, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana and others are scheduled to be placed in nomination at Chicago. Mr. Roosevelt, it was predicted, would hardly led them go before the delegates in ignorance of final word on the third term.

Up to the time Hitler launched his May blitzkrieg that turned Europe into a bloody shambles, Mr. Roosevelt's intimates were convinced he planned to retire at the end of his present term. Since then they have reached the conclusion that he will reluctantly break all precedent and become a three-time candidate. But they don't know.

GALION FIRM GIVEN ORDER

GALION — The Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing company of Galion, has been awarded an $11,700 government order for rollers for the WPA, it was announced Friday after 14 government agencies reported 205 contracts valued at $13,968,989, awarded during the week ended June 22, 1940, as part of the national defense program.

The Galion order is under a contract awarded to the Good Roads Machinery company of New York, Inc.

MARRIAGE OF YEAR AGO JUST ANNOUNCED BY GALION COUPLE

GALION — Mr. and Mrs. Orville F. May whose marriage of last July was announced Thursday night, were honored Friday evening with a dinner at the home of Mrs May's mother, Mrs. W. E. Muth of 852 Harding Way East. Following the dinner the couple left for a ten-day motor trip to Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin. After July 9 they will be at home at 205 South Market street

Before her marriage, Mrs. May was Viola Mae Seitz. She was graduated this spring from Galion high school.

Mr. May is the son of F. F May of 400 John street. He was graduated in 1937 from Galion high school and is employed at the North Electric Manufacturing company.

The couple was married July 3, 1939, at 3 p. m. in Mountain Lake Park, Mr., by Rev. R. A. Crites, pastor of the United Brethren church. Attendants were the bridegroom's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. May of Kingwood, W. Va.

Announcement of the marriage was made Thursday night when Mrs. May entertained the members of her H. C. '40 club and two guests at the home of her mother. Mrs. Gene Finical and Verla Grosh were guests at the party.

TAX COLLECTIONS

ASHLAND—Karl K. Kick, county treasurer has announced that he has collected approximately $27,000 in the four days the books have been opened for the last half of the 1939 real estate settlement.

THEATERS

Vivien Leigh—Robert Taylor.

"Waterloo Bridge," Vivien Leigh's second American film, starring her with Robert Taylor, opens today at the Ohio and will probably establish her as one of the screen's greatest actresses. They are teamed as romantic lovers in the Robert E. Sherwood drama. For a background London of the war years 1917 and 1940 are pictured, with blackouts, underground air raid shelters and troops leaving for the front from Waterloo Station.

* * *

Stage Hit "Irene."

"Alice Blue Gown," most famous song of the Broadway musical comedy hit "Irene" is featured in the current motion picture version of the play which opens today at the Madison. Anna Neagle, the famous British star and Ray Milland share the top honors with Roland Young, Alan Marshall, May Robson and Billie Burke in the supporting cast. A technicolor sequence is the famous "Alice Blue Gown" number. The co-feature attraction is "The Saint Takes Over" with George Sanders and Wendy Barrie in the leading roles.

* * *

Life in the Philippines.

One of the best pictures of the year is "The Real Glory" which is showing beginning Sunday at the Park. Gary Cooper has the leading role with a fine supporting cast of David Niven, Andrea Leeds and Reginald Owen. It is an exciting tale of the Philippine Scouts and their heroic bravery at the conclusion of the Spanish-American war. "The Outsider," an emotional drama, is the co-feature, with Mary Maguire and George Sanders in the leading roles.

* * *

Joan Bennett—Ann Sheridan.

Darked-tressed Joan Bennett appears as a modern sophisticate who causes collective flutterings in the hearts of five gentlemen in the picture "The Housekeeper's Daughter" which is showing Sunday and Monday at the Ritz. Adolphen Menjou, Donald Meek, Lillian Bond, John Hubbard and Peggy Wood are only a few of the large supporting cast. As a second feature "Castle on the Hudson" is presented with Ann Sheridan and John Garfield in the leading roles. Burgess Meredith, the stage star, is also in the cast.

* * *

Open on Friday and Saturday.

Showing today at the Majestic will be "The Shop Around the Corner," starring Margaret Sullavan and James Stewart, and "Texas Renegades" which stars Tim McCoy. The former is a human drama of the every-day life in Budapest, telling of a young love. The theater will be open only on Friday and Saturday throughout July and August.

STROKE FATAL TO MINE ORDER

MILLERSBURG — Cash R. Smith, 69, well-known coal mine operator and life-long resident of Millersburg and vicinity, died at 11:30 Thursday morning at the Pomerene Memorial hospital following a stroke of paralysis.

Surviving are his widow, Cora Deetz Smith, three sons, Virgil L. and Harold W. of the home and Kenneth D. of Canton; a brother, Edward Smith of Millersburg; a sister, Mrs. Mary Butler of Glenmont and a half-brother, A. J. Smith of LaFlore, Oklahoma.

Funeral services will be held here Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Elliott funeral home. Burial will be made in the Millersburg cemetery.

Braves Wallop Fostoria, Play Here Tonight

Mansfield Pounds Out 16 Hits In Handing Red Birds an 11 to 3 Whipping.

MANSFIELD is back in the winning column today as they prepare to entertain Fostoria under the floodlights at 8:30 p. m. at the Fairground park.

Although the starting pitcher failed to get past the second inning, the Braves, paced by Howard Beals, turned back the Red Birds, 11 to 3, at Fostoria last night.

Manager Dewey Stover, seeking to solve his pitching problems, sent Alex Radoumis to the hill, but he failed to handle the situation and George Laurila went in in the second and handcuffed the Red Birds.

With his staff in poor condition, Stover is likely to send Radoumis back to the mound against Fostoria tonight. A twin bill with Fremont is on tap for the Fairground Sunday and Stover is not sure who will get the assignments.

* * *

Fostoria managed to knot the score at 2-all in the third inning last night, but from there on it was all Mansfield. The Braves pushed over three tallies in the fourth to take a lead that was never threatened.

* * *

The Fostoria pitchers held up well until the eighth when Mansfield teed off for six runs.

Laurila gave the Red Birds those two runs in the third and gave up another in the sixth. The rest of the way he set the Fostoria outfit down in order.

* * *

Beals, who has been in a slump this week, found the range last night and pounded out a triple, double and two singles to lead the Braves' 16-hit attack.

* * *

Matt Miazga, Herb Woodten, Gene Woodlin, Walt Missler and Harry Seigbert, each contributed two hits to the list.

Reds Look to Turner, Bucky

Pin Hopes on Star Hurlers To Hold Lead.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Still groggy from a whirlwind encounter which they lost to Chicago 3-2, the Reds looked to Jim Turner or Bucky Walters to defend their hairline hold on top position in the National league today.

* * *

Claude Passeau, with a 7-7 record, will be on the mound for the Cubs.

* * *

Taking up the battle after their eastern tour, where the going was plenty tough, the Cincinnati club last night saw their lead over second place Brooklyn fade to a single per centage point.

The Cubs jumped onto Paul Derringer for 11 hits, five of them in the first two rounds, to score all of their runs while Jake Mooty stopped the Reds with only six scattered blows.

Stanley Hack pounced on big Paul for a double in the first and Billy Herman singled to center, bringing Hack in. In the next round singles by Dominic Dallesandro and Al Todd, a sacrifice and a bunt brought in two more for the Bruins before Derringer stopped them.

* * *

The Rhinelanders managed to count a run in the seventh. Ival Goodman beat out a single, moved around on Frank McCormick's safety, and scored as Ernie Lombardi hit into his second double play of the game.

* * *

The Chicago victory ended a three-game winning streak for the Reds and chalked up Derringer's sixth defeat of the season.

Dempsey Works Out, Reminds Mac of 'Gone With the Wind'

By HENRY McLEMORE
(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—With the look of battle and the smoke of a fifty-cent cigar in his eyes Jack Dempsey arrived in Atlanta today for his fight with Cowboy Lutrell there on Monday night.

Trained to the minute (and for no more than a minute) Dempsey planned to further harrass his 45-year-old, 1895 model chassis, by wheeling it out to Peachtree street and doing a bit of roadwork. This should revive memories of the gone with the wind premiere for Atlantans, because Dempsey's workout will be a gone is the wind performance if there was one.

* * *

As an aid to Atlantans who want to catch a glimpse of the ol' Manassa Mauler working out I would like to say that his roadwork plans are roughly this: he will taxi out to Peachtree and Tenth and then run as far as possible toward Peachtree and Eleventh. He will then board a Buckhead street car, preferably one that allows smoking in the last three rows, and work eight full miles from a sitting position.

* * *

You will be able to identify Dempsey by his old familiar landmarks. His hair is still as black and his beard as blue as when he slipped through the ropes at Toledo in 1919 to blast the lumbering Willard. He still wears the same old scowl, and his greeting is still the same warm and friendly, "Hi, Pal."

I sparred a few rounds with Dempsey over the telephone just before he left for Atlanta last night and he plans to give Lutrell the full treatment with all that is left of his punch, speed, and skill.

I'm in pretty good shape," Dempsey said. "Not that I'm ready to challenge for the heavyweight title again, but I feel pretty good for an old fellow. Only weigh 25 pounds more than I did when I licked Jess."

* * *

He came in at 180 at Toledo, which means that he will do 205 or thereabouts when he boun—pardon, walks—out of his corner to take a swipe or two at Lutrell. Jack will crouch as much as the extra 25 pounds will allow him to, and in general employ the fighting tactics he did when he was champion.

"I just want to connect with one left hook," Jack said. "That will be enough I can still hit just about as hard as I ever did, and I have heard that I wasn't a bad puncher at one time."

League Head Urges Use of Anti-Bean Helmet

President Ford Frick of the National league, alarmed at the sudden increase in big league batters being struck on the head by pitched balls, urges that all batsmen be forced to wear helmets such as the one demonstrated above.

The helmet is of leather and sponge rubber and is clamped upon the head by ear flaps. Designers claim it will prevent brain concussion if batter is "beaned."

Connie Mack Amends Pre-Season Forecast

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK — (INS) — Connie Mack, a youthful 78, who is as much a part of baseball as the ball, the bat or home plate, wants to amend today the forecast he made at the start of the season.

* * *

At that time Connie startled the cognescenti by predicting the Yanks would not win their fifth straight pennant. Now he says they not only will not win, but they will be lucky to finish in the first division!

* * *

The grand oldtimer is bubbling over with enthusiasm about his newest rookie — one Porter Vaughan, a lefthander fresh off the campus of the University of Richmond—and, says Connie, "the greatest pitcher I've had come up since Lefty Grove came to the Athletics many years ago."

That's high praise, indeed, but listen to Connie: 'I've had some wonderful pitchers in my day and I've been especially lucky with lefthanders. Waddell, Plank, Pennock, Grove and now this young fellow Vaughan.

"Vaughan's not as fast as Grove but he's fast enough and he's got a beautiful control and he knows what it's all about. I tossed him right in against Cleveland recently and he fanned nine of them in seven innings.

"Give me one or two more youngsters like that and I'll breeze in with another pennant in the next year or two."

That's Connie for you—78 and building for the future!

How does the race look to him now and to what does he attribute the downfall of the Yanks?

"Well," he said, "I was inclined to favor Detroit for awhile but now I must give a slight edge to Cleveland. That Boudreau and Mack of the Indians—they're the best second base pair in the league and they have lots of power besides five fine starting pitchers—Feller, Harder, Allen, Milnar and Smith.

"The Tigers also have great power and two fine veterans in Bridges and Newsom as well as two good rookies, Newhouser and Gorsica

"It's a pity that such a great team as the Red Sox hasn't got better pitching. As for the Yanks, I know from experience it's almost impossible for a club to keep winning for five years.

* * *

"They've all eased off a trifle and they miss Dickey's hitting and Gomez pitching. This same Yankee club will be much harder to beat next year after they lost this year.

"I feel sorry for Joe McCarthy but I can't help but feel it's a great thing for baseball to have some other club win."

Servis Faces Tough Hurdle In Carmichael

By FRITZ HOWELL

SHAKER HEIGHTS COUNTRY CLUB, Cleveland —(AP)— Dayton's s intillating Bobby Servis, defending king, faced one of the toughest hurdles in his path to a second straight Ohio amateur golf championship today as he met Danny Carmichael of Columbus in the third round of the 37th annual event.

* * *

In 43 holes of tournament play, including the qualifier and two matches, Servis has scored 14 birdies and is seven under par. But Carmichael hasn't been doing so badly himself.

Carmichael knocked Byron (Barney) Hunt of Columbus, State Public links champ, out of the play in the first round, 4 and 1, and he duplicated that score yesterday in ousting R. C. Garretson, highly rated Ashland player.

Four public links players emerged victorious from the second round play. Dick Meiser of Springfield's Snyder park layout was ousted 4 and 3 by Tom Whiteway, Cleveland star. John Racey, Cleveland publinkster, lost to another Public course entrant, Abe Gregor of Warren, one down in 19 holes

Racey, five down to Gregor at the end of 10 holes, spurted on the back nine to square the match at 17, but a lost ball cost him the 19th and the match. It was Gregor's second extra hole jaunt of the tourney.

Bob Castor of Ashland, who fired a 71 to take the qualifying medal after Servis had refused to take it with his 70, was pushed out yesterday, 2 and 1, by Oliver Transue of Cleveland.

John Wood of Cincinnati, 1939 finalist, lost to John Skinner, Cleveland public links champ, by the same score.

* * *

Bobby Campbell of Granville, just turned 16, continued his sensational play yesterday by handing Harold Wilburn of Akron a 6 to 5 setback. The youngster met Gregor today.

* * *

Today's third round pairings: Servis vs. Carmichael; Campbell vs. Gregor; Whiteway vs. J. F. Lewis, jr., Toledo; Skinner vs. Andy Yurcho, Youngstown; Transue vs. Val Chiaverini, Toledo; Carlson vs. B. D. Bather, jr., Toledo; John Schneider, Cleveland, vs. Hamilton Hedges, Columbus; and Joe Ogilvie, Cleveland, vs. Bill Santor, Youngstown.

Tri-State Goes To Semi-Finals

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Tri-State Tennis tournament progressed to the semi-finals today with most of the top-flight players still in competition.

* * *

Gracyn Wheeler of Los Angeles faced Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco. National champion Bobby Riggs of Chicago was matched against fast-moving Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla.

* * *

Alice Marble of Los Angeles, U. S. women's champion, strode to the finals after narrowly escaping defeat by 18-year-old Helen Bernhard of New York. The courageous youngster led 5-1 during the final set but Miss Marble won by scores of 6-3, 1-6, 7-5.

BOB FELLER GOES AFTER 12TH VICTORY TODAY

CHICAGO —(AP)— Back to the American league campaign went the first place Cleveland Indians today, banking on their pitching ace, Bob Feller, to get his 12th victory at the expense of the Chicago White Sox.

Jimmy Dykes, Sox manager, nominated Thornton (Lefty) Lee, a former Tribesman, to work against the young fireballer.

CLUB BUYS PLAYER

OLEAN, N. Y.—(AP)—Outfielder Ferdinand Solo of the Dayton Middle Atlantic league team has been purchased by the Olean baseball club of the Pony league.

Goes to Minors

Johnny Vander Meer Says Goodbye to Teammates, Joins Indianapolis.

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI—Johnny Vander Meer, whose strides to pitching fame were among the most spectacular in baseball, said goodbye to his Cincinnati teammates today and headed for the minors.

* * *

Saying farewell, before heading for Indianapolis of the American association, took plenty of courage after the hours he had worked overtime trying to regain his control but Johnny told friends he'd be back with the Reds soon.

* * *

"I realize that the only way I can help myself or this club is by getting better control. The only way to get that is to work hard," he said.

"I am glad of the opportunity to get regular work. As soon as I have four or five nine-inning games under my belt I expect to be back with the Reds again."

Manager Bill McKechnie said he believed that with steady hurling the former Midland Park, N. J., youth would master the wildness which has held him down the past two years.

* * *

All the other clubs waived on Vander Meer and made possible his option to Indianapolis, with whom the Reds have a working agreement.

* * *

Vander Meer established his two successive no-hit, no-run games record on June 11, 1938, against Boston at Crosley Field, and on June 15, four days later, in Brooklyn.

Shipped to Minors

Johnny Vander Meer, who once pitched a no-hitter for the Cincinnati Reds, said farewell to his teammates and journeyed to Indianapolis today to join the Indians. Johnny told his friends he hoped to be back as soon as he "gets better control."

Heroes and Goats

HEROES—Charley Gelbert, Washington infielder, who drove in three runs, including the winning tally, as the Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox. Babe Phelps, Brooklyn catcher, whose two doubles played the major role in the Dodgers triumph over the Boston Bees.

GOATS—Dick Seibert, Philadelphia first baseman whose error led to the New York Yankees victory over the A's. Joe Heving, Boston Red Sox pitcher, who failed to check the lowly Washington Senators in a relief chore.

Pitching Still Important Factor In Major Loops

Ten Teams Average Eight Hits Apiece, Two Moundsmen Fail to Go Distance.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

PITCHING," baseball writers are in the habit of quoting the immortal John McGraw, "is 75 per cent of the ball game." Days like yesterday in the major leagues make the statement easy to believe.

There were no individually spectacular mound operations, but ten teams were in action and averaged only eights hits apiece. All but two of the starting pitchers finished.

The upshot of all this fine flinging was roughly that the Brooklyn Dodgers moved within one point of the Cincinnati Reds in the National league, .344 to .343, and the Boston Red Sox lost ground in the American.

Whitlow Wyatt pitched the Dodgers to a 2-1 decision over Dick Errickson and the Boston Bees. Wyatt gave five hits and struck out six, finishing the eight-inning rain-shortened struggle with four hitless frames. Errickson permitted Brooklyn only seven safeties, but four of these were bunched in the fifth when the Dodgers got all their runs.

* * *

Then Jake Mooty, an expert at hurling under the electric lights, came along with a six-hitter for the Chicago Cubs last night to edge out the Cincinnati Reds 3-2. Chicago nicked big Paul Derringer for 11 blows and scored all its runs in the first two innings. Mooty kept the Reds scoreless until the seventh and coasted home.

* * *

In another night game Fiddler Bill McGee of the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 with seven-hit hurling. The score didn't show it, but this game too was a pitching party with Lefty Ken Heintzelman matching McGee until the ninth, when Wild Horse Pepper Martin hit a home run with the bases loaded.

There were only three home runs in the five-game program and two were in this contest, Elbie Fletcher hitting one for Pittsburgh.

* * *

Dutch Leonard made his knuckle ball do tricks as the Washington Senators squeezed past the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in ten innings and moved out of the American league cellar.

* * *

The New York Yankees amassed a two-game winning streak, their longest since June 15, by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 4-1. The A's gave the game away with four errors to spoil a six-hit pitching job by Bucky Ross.

Akron Moves Into Second

Outslug Youngstown In Mid-Atlantic Tussle.

YOUNGSTOWN — (AP) — Akron's Yankees, late of the Mid-Atlantic lower bracket, moved into a second-place tie today with Charleston, W Va., Senators

* * *

The Yanks bombarded out 15 hits last night to down Youngstown 12 to 10. Ravish of Akron got four for five, with two doubles and two singles, while Tighe got a triple and two singles in three official trips to the plate.

The Portsmouth Red Birds tallied a strategic run to take a 1 to 0 win from the Senators before rain washed the game out in the sixth. The second game of a scheduled double header was postponed.

Canton's Dudley Cain held the Dayton Wings to three scattered hits as the Terriers chalked up a 4 to 0 victory. He struck out eight and bore down consistently when men were on base.

Today's schedule: Canton at Dayton, Portsmouth at Charleston, Akron at Youngstown.

If you are ever so unfortunate as to find yourself in the water with a capsized boat, do not try to swim to shore or let any of your passengers do so. Hold onto the boat until help comes or you drift ashore. Even though the distance is short, do not try it for even excellent swimmers have found out to their dismay that it is very hard to swim even a short distance, in heavy water-soaked clothes.

The fly fisherman who doesn't use one of the lightweight, transparent fly boxes, is missing a great convenience. These boxes, in various sizes and styles, are amazingly strong . . . keep your flies and bass bugs orderly, and enable you to spot the right one instantly, without opening the box. Yes, you'll find them at Yuncker's.

* * *

To prevent wood ticks and chiggers from getting on the body, spray outside of clothing at waist, at bottom of pants, around collar and wrist bands of shirt with the fly spray made for household use. Most of these sprays are now stainless and the odor is not unpleasant. This method is said to be very effective.

A statistical-minded sportsman from Ohio figures that if all the rabbits killed during 1939 in the Buckeye state were laid end to end, they would reach from Akron to El Paso, Texas. The gentleman shows that 4,600,000 rabbits were shot and that they would fill 138 fifty-ton freight cars.

The black skimmer, a species of bird related to the gull and tern families, has a novel way of dining. The lower mandible of the bill is much longer than the upper, and the skimmer flies along the surface of the water, scooping up insects with his razor-like lower bill.

At one time, before man exploited the range, Attwater prairie chickens were more than abundant in the gulf coastal prairie section. Today, with more than 93 per cent of its former range depleted, the Attwater prairie chicken is on the verge of extinction. In Louisiana the birds are practically gone, and only about 8000 remain in a few widely scattered spots in Texas.

STOCK MARKET CARRIES OUT FEW DEALINGS

Leading Issues Shift Over Uneven Range as War News Develops.

NEW YORK - (AP) - News of war, politics and business failed to steam up the stock market today and leading issues shifted over a slightly uneven range.

Small gains predominated at the opening but many of these were erased near the final hour. Dealings were slack from the start.

Most in Wall Street still exhibited optimism over the Republican choice of Willkie as the presidential candidate, although offsetting influences were observed in European bulletins. Fears of a new Hitler blast, at England or an enforced peace, brokers said, induced some traders to lighten commitments over the week-end.

Up a trifle were American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Glenn Martin, Montgomery Ward, Anaconda, and Phelps Dodge. Moderately in arrears were U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Can, and Eastman Kodak.

Bonds were mixed and commodities irregularly lower.

MARSHAL BALBO DIES IN CRASH

Italian Air Chief Killed With Crew Members in Flaming War Plane.

marshal was died at his post in combat."

The dashing, colorful, black-bearded trans-Atlantic flier was one of Fascism's celebrities and sometimes was mentioned as a possible successor to Mussolini as Italy's next duce.

Since Mussolini sent him to Libya, however, at the height of his popularity, Balbo's name has been heard less often in connection with possible Fascist succession than that of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Mussolini's son-in-law and foreign minister.

Premier Mussolini ordered flags lowered to half-mast at public buildings and airports tomorrow. Banners in Fascist headquarters will be covered by crepe in mourning.

The Italian broadcasting system was silent for two minutes after announcement of the death.

Marshal Balbo in 1933 led a historic mass flight of Italian planes to the United States.

He received such an ovation both in the United States and at home as a result of the flight that Premier Mussolini was rumored to have been displeased at his rapid rise in popular favor.

Shortly after his return to Italy in 1933 he was appointed to the Libyan post, a move interpreted in some quarters as designed to remove him from the limelight.

Killer of Deputy Sheriff Hanged; Vengeful to End

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. —(U.P.) —Vengeful to the last toward a society that sentenced him to one prison term and then to die, Byzentine Hartman, 28-year-old Buckhannon, W. Va., housepainter's helper, was hanged last night at the state penitentiary here.

Hartman, who shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Wilbur Grubb of Upsher county, when Grubb intervened while Hartman was beating his mother, mounted the gallows defiantly shortly before 9 p. m. and was pronounced dead 13 minutes later.

"Well, I'm ready, warden," he said, scarcely before the 50 witnesses had crowded into the 20-foot square room. Then he mounted the short flight of steps to the raised gallows. His last words before the black mask was slipped over his head were:

"Put Troy Alkire here with me." Alkire is the state policeman who arrested Hartman last April after he had made a vain attempt to escape from the scene of the shooting in a stolen car.

Asia and the South Seas as a co-related sphere with Japan as the central stabilizing influence.

Through Arita was vague as to details, his statement constituted an unmistakable pronouncement that Japan would oppose any outside "interference" with east Asia and the South Seas, including the Netherlands East Indies.

Diplomatic quarters said that it could be interpreted as a warning to other powers including Germany, to keep out of east Asia and as a reaffirmation of Japan's policy of refraining from involvement in the rest of the world so long as its influence in east Asia was respected.

It has been made known that the government intended to make today a declaration of policy which would have constituted the proclamation of an east Asian Monroe Doctrine. For some reason, instead, Arita made his statement in the form of a radio speech to the nation. It was reported that at the last hour the army had opposed the declaration of a Monroe Doctrine because it might tie the army's hands.

Believe Japan Plans Invasion.

SHANGHAI — (U.P.) — Well informed quarters here today believed Japan was considering invasion of French Indo-China as necessary to achieve success against Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and to assure the empire southern bases in event it is necessary to enforce Japan's idea of a Monroe doctrine for the southern Pacific.

Japanese reports from Canton said the spokesman for the Japanese army in South China announced that the Japanese regarded as automaticaly ended their agreement to give the British 24 hours notice in advance of any Japanese moves on the borders of Hongkong and its Kowloon territory, adjacent on the mainland.

This was regarded as having cleared the way for an assault without warning on Hongkong, British fortified crown colony, and Indo-China.

There were reports that the Japanese fleet was being concentrated in the vicinity of Yap Island, in the Carolines, as a shield for possible Indo-Chino operations.

Well informed quarters here believed that if Japan attacked Indo-China she would find the French well prepared and determined to resist any invasion.

Sheriff, Probing Rackets, Clears School Salesman

Sheriff's deputies investigating a series of complaints that salesmen had defrauded persons of money, said today that their inquiries had cleared one salesman of any connection with such practices.

R. G. Hornbarger of 91 East Third street, told the sheriff that he had been circulating in the vicinity of Lucas as a representative of the National School of Electronics of Minneapolis.

A complaint had been received from the Lucas area. A man there had claimed he had lost $30 after signing an agreement with a man representing a Chicago electrical school.

Sheriff's deputies said that credentials Hornbarger showed them and that an investigation made by the Chamber of Commerce established that Hornbarger was a legitimate salesman for a legitimate concern.
